

I'd have come out of chemistry with a B if you hadn't gone and got your seat changed. Remember! ~~Star~~ Solver. is where it's at. (13)

Mark Durbin

TO A REAL IDIOT FROM SEFCRADE

Garry,
It was fun in med.
Drawing over there
Big B is a dick. So as you for that matter.
Have a good summer and stay sober, be a while anyway.
So best. Rob.

Marty,

You've got an ERA now.

Just kidding. Maybe

you'll start next year or throw in the bull pen.

I gotta get a job. I only have two not so ones. Hope to camp with ya.

See ya,

Scott

Marty,

It was a lot of fun
in Chemistry with you and all our little talking group. It made Chemistry go a lot easier.

I hope in the future
you become Mr. Molecule with an assistant named
Oswald at the "Dr Pimentel"
Laboratory and Scientific Research Center.

I'll see you at church
this summer maybe once or twice (you know how holy you are).

Keep up your good brain and humor, and try not to fall down in front of your parents anymore.

Shaun (the rag)

Marty,
It seems last year I have you.
better than this year. I hope to see you over the summer
maybe next year.
to know last year.
I hope to see you better. We'll get some better.

KIRKWOOD HIGH SCHOOL

KIRKWOOD, MISSOURI VOL. 35

Marty,

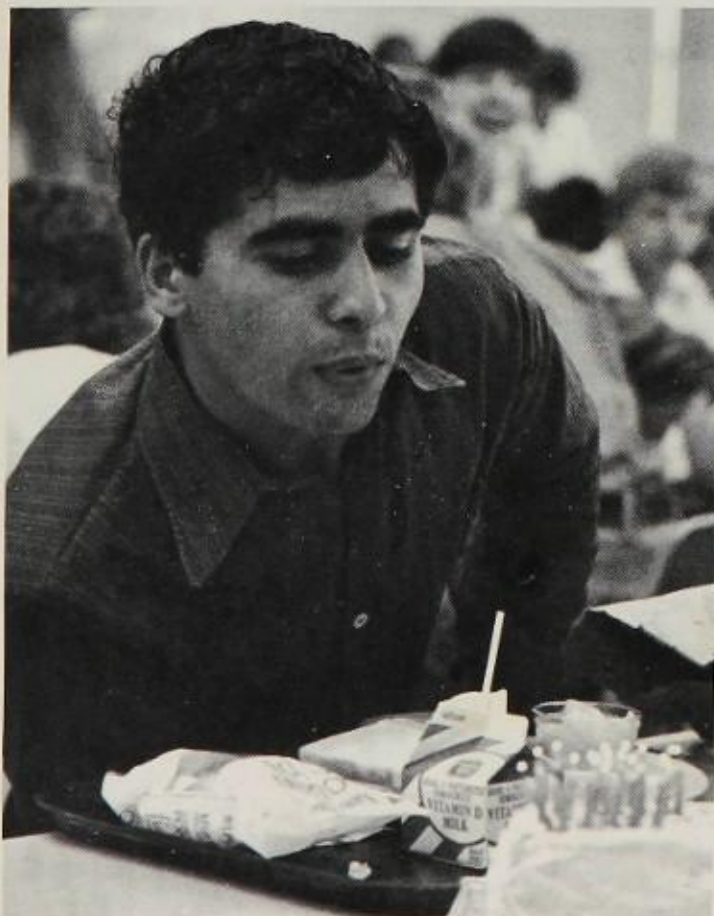

When I think of you
I remember the time we sat in the car together
in front of Rommes house, and had our talk. And then later you were nice enough to take me over Kathy Ford's. You are a great person, and I'm sorry we couldn't have more talks than we did. I hope to see you over the summer. Good luck to you, always

Pam Risch

Party -
 I owe you an apology. See you this summer.
 This year was too crapped
 up to say much. & kuse.
 I guess I owe you some cookies. Take care of my car, you too. Love
 Donna

Think of change, its cause and effect. Every second in the past, present, and future involves change, envelops us. Growth, knowledge, and understanding acquired during our school years influence ideas that someday may rule the world. Change affects us and we affect change.

Even the most subtle change activates thought, spreading new ideas in an ever widening circle. Each new idea, in turn, inspires concepts, reactions...changes.

If we are to make this world a better place in which to live, we must all do our part. That would be the most beautiful and successful change the world has ever known.

We CAN change the world!

Where to find it . . .

Howdy, Marty!
Good picture
of Kirkwood High,
huh? I'm the dark.
I can't say I'm glad I was in

Marty,
 It's been fun in

 even better that night we had the beer. I'll never forget that it was really cool. I'm

P.S. Hope I have you in some classes next year.

...spreading new ideas...

Marty,

Thanks to you I'll probably flunk history since you were always in the hall bothering me.

Since I don't know you well, I can't say much. Just that you're a crazy guy. I'll probably see you around but if not have a good summer & don't ever get the drunk
Beth

I there's so much to say I hardly know where to start. Of all my friendships at the high school, I value yours on top. We've had some good talks and we've got a lot in common. The only place I excel is in driving ability!! No more weeks 'K? I'll see you in the summer. Have a great year next year and always.
Love always,
Jity

Hi Marty!

Promise me one thing that you will always be my buddy. I remember in Deepor when you were an obnoxious brat, you still are!

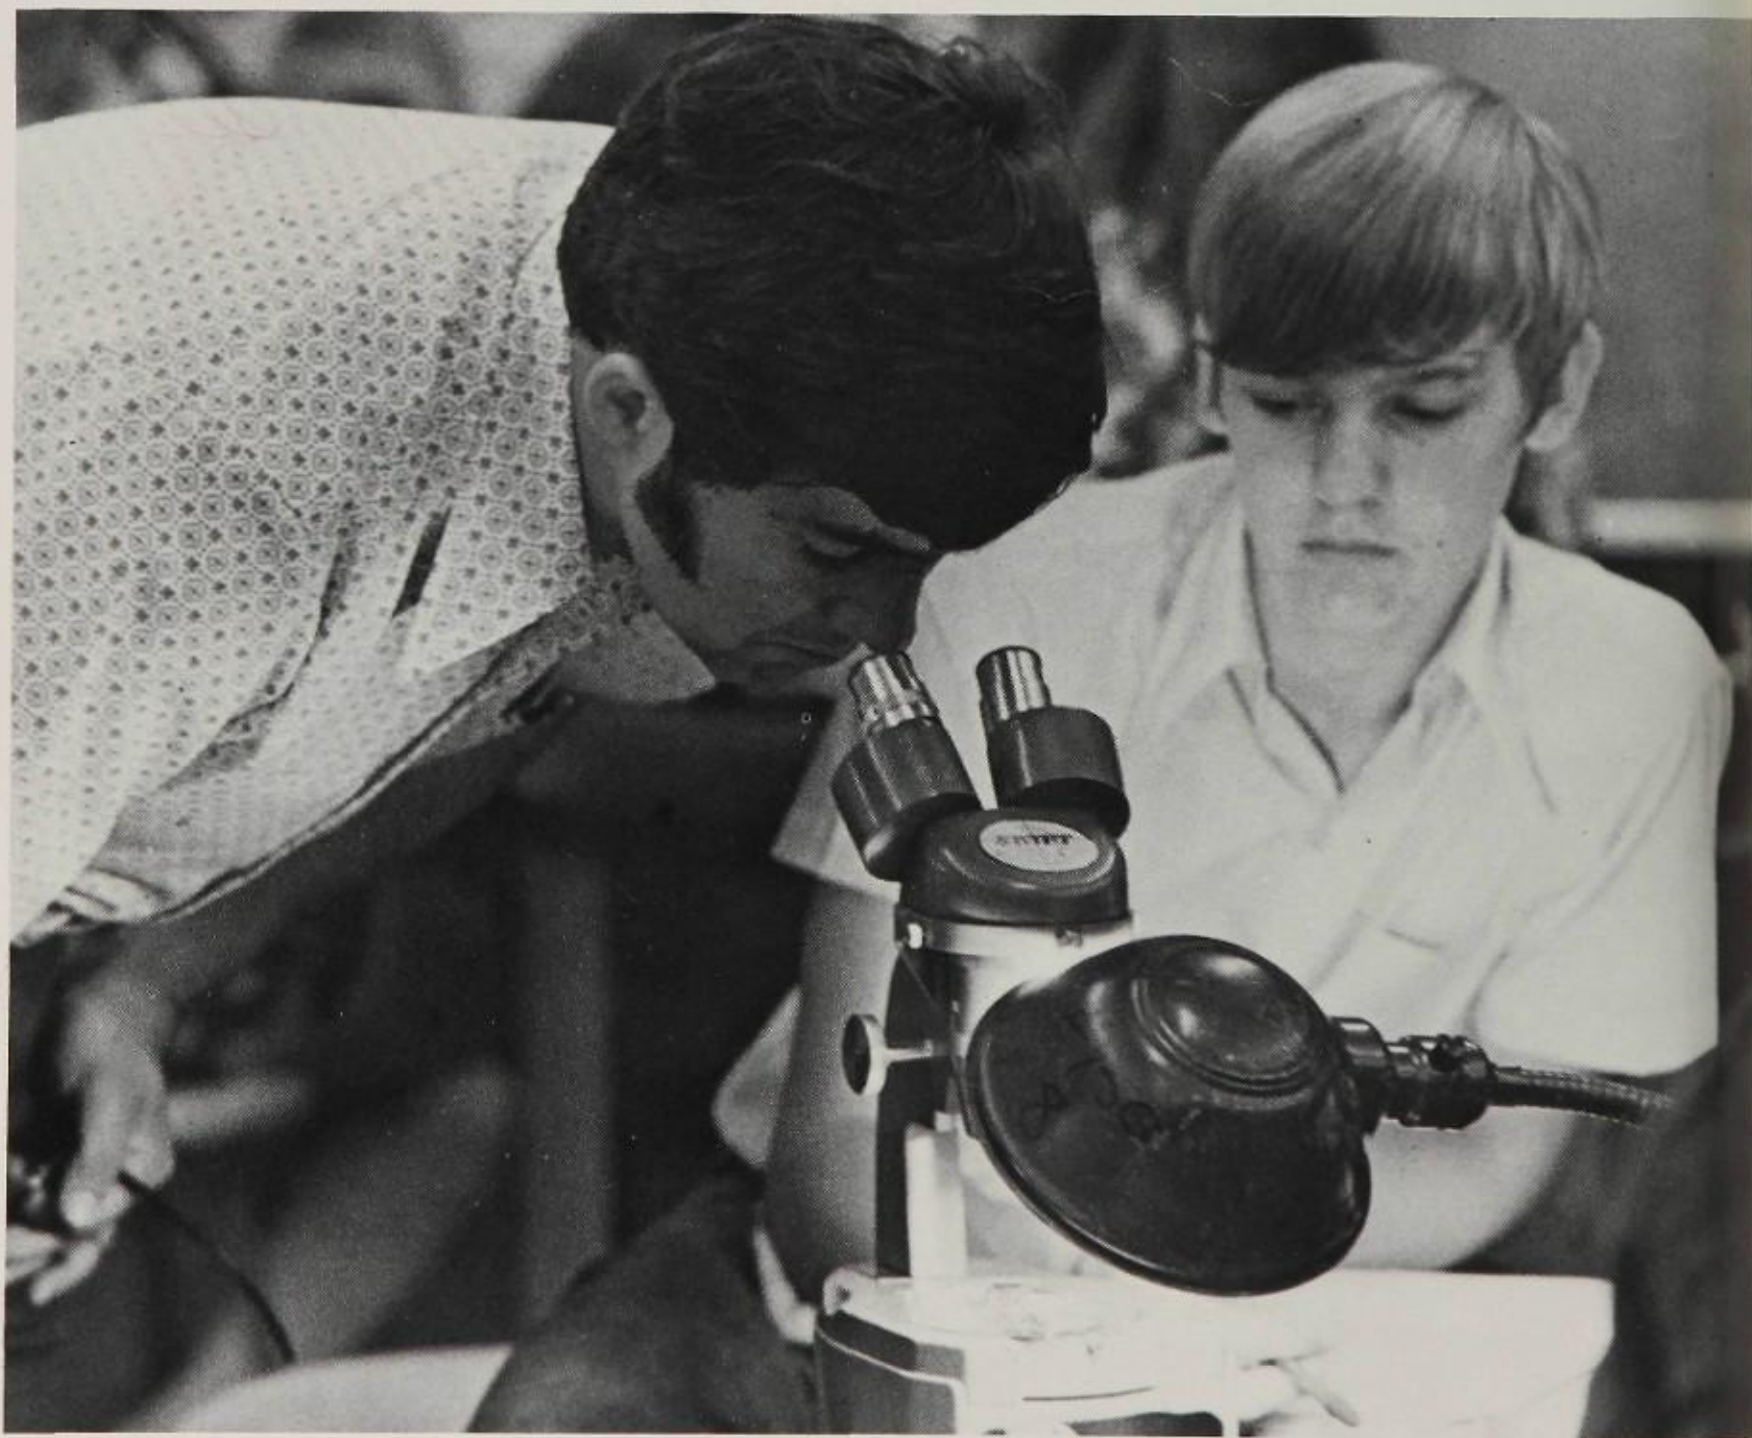

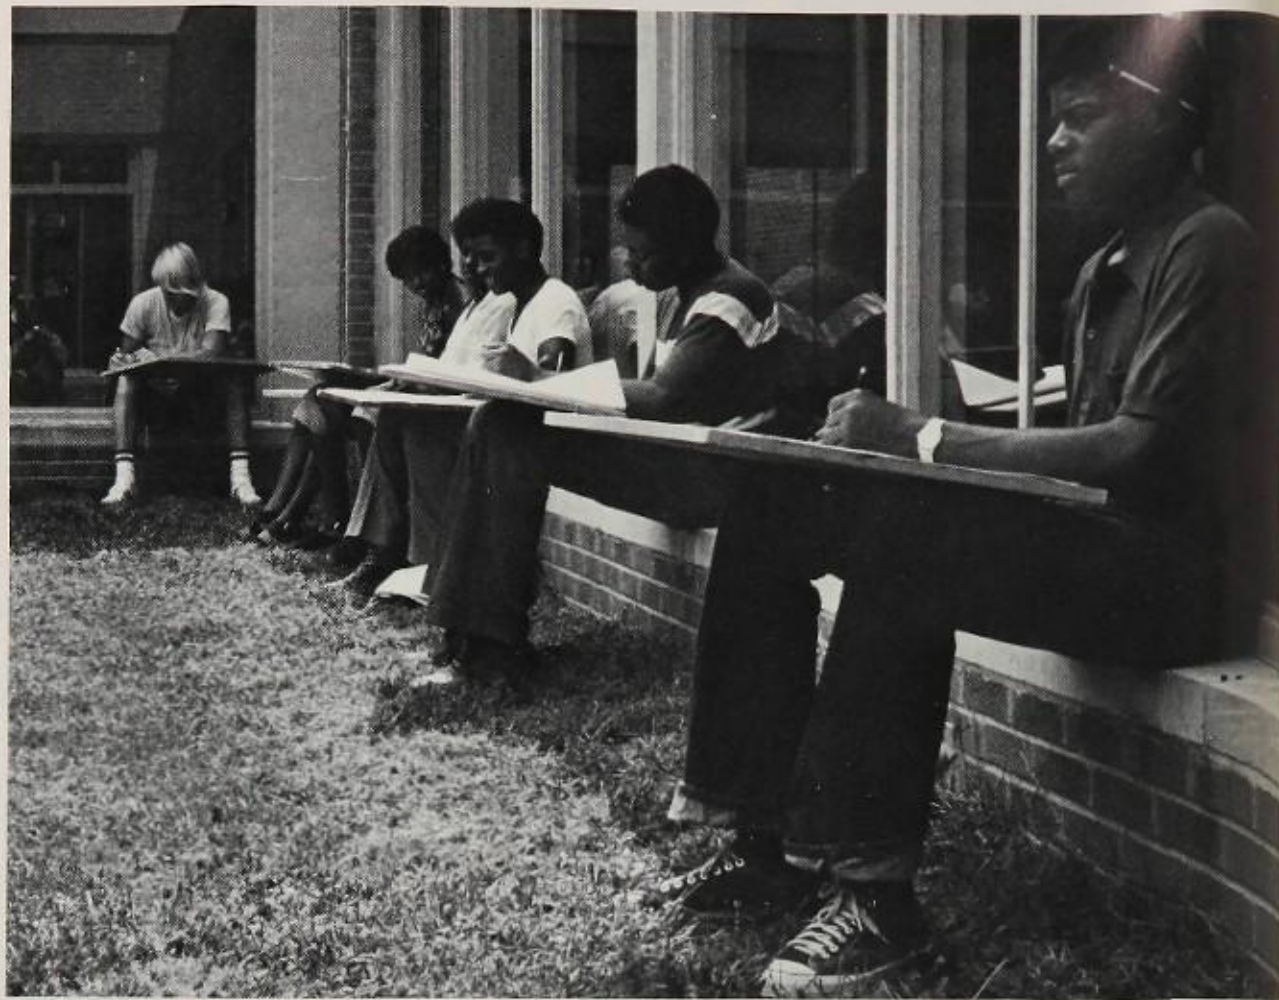

We have to get together and have another squirt gun fight and next time, don't just watch me wash the car. Remember our study hall love notes - they were getting pretty serious.

See you around

Activities

New Club's Goal: Black Awareness

Black Awareness Club worked to better relationships between black and white students and to bring students together to share various activities and projects.

Thirty-three students interested in Black Awareness formed the club which is in its first year of existence. Requirements for membership involved having sincere concern for improving racial communications.

Racial tension, as it has in the past, caused much concern among KHS students. This concern peaked when student-organized assemblies were held during the second quarter to discuss racial problems in the school. Black Awareness Club members took an active part in these assemblies, drawing up complaints and taking a poll among students in an attempt to discover what steps students felt should be taken to alleviate racial tensions.

"A Raisin In The Sun," one of the plays presented by club members, was put on February 21 and 22. Sickie Cell Anemia drives, car washes, rummage sales, and a drive for funds for a seriously injured football player, Herman Davis of McKinley High School, served as additional money-making projects.

Students Gain Insight Into Computer Sciences

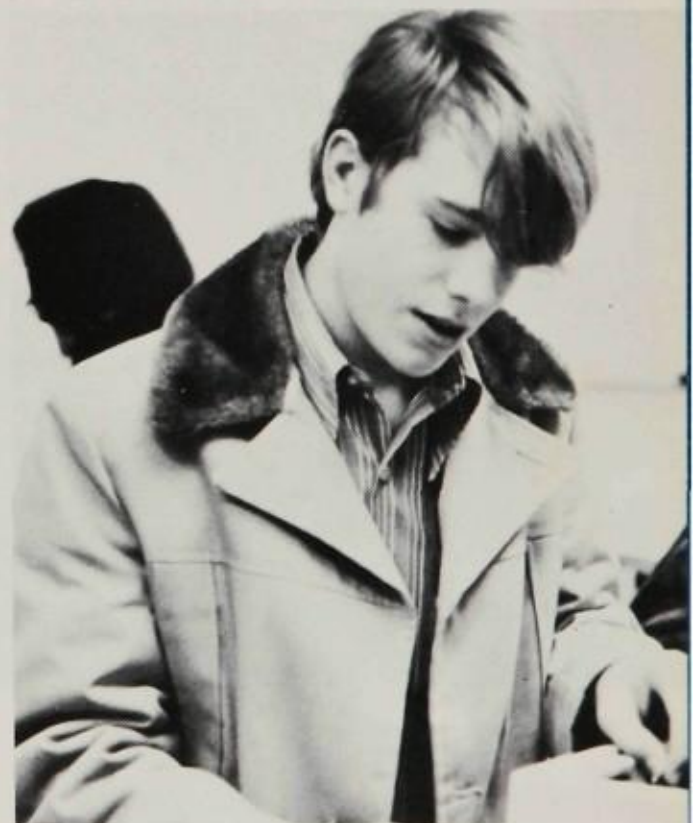

Computer Club worked to further interest and knowledge of computers thus displaying various advantages and capabilities of computers.

Sponsored by Mr. Neal West, 20 members held meetings every Wednesday to improve skills and try to solve difficult problems. Experience acquired through the club enables students to advance to various computer sciences if they so desire.

One of the activities of the club involved composing a computer skill test to be taken by prospective members.

Since the school provides equipment, the club does not have any expenses. This accounts for the lack of money-making projects.

Camera Club Develops Art Of Photography

Camera Club consisted of eight people wishing to learn all they could about picture taking. They met once a week to develop and print pictures and to exchange their ideas on photography with those of other members.

Eastman-Kodak sent films and slide shows to the club so that the members could learn some of the finer points of photography. Subjects covered by the films included developing and printing techniques, travelogues, night photography, and processing color film.

All equipment used by Camera Club belonged to the members. Selling pictures raised money to buy some of the equipment. Several years ago, the club decided to make a movie, which is how Media began. Since then, Media has separated from Camera Club, forming a separate group of its own.

AFS Funds Earned By Bicycle Ramble

Goals of the American Field Service Club of Kirkwood High School as stated in their constitution are as follows: "To assume responsibility for the welfare of the foreign student in the school, to stimulate interest in the Americans Abroad programs, to cooperate with the local AFS chapter in all aspects of the program, and to explore other aspects of international living. . ."

Before the 1970-71 school year, Student Council sponsored an AFS committee. However, lack of support and interest from S.C. members resulted in the formation of an individual club for the sole purpose of AFS.

Commended by the AFS headquarters in New York, this small young club set out to achieve its goals.

Despite sporadic meetings, the club raised enough money to bring another foreign student as AFS had previously financed the personable Noor Duraanee of Afghanistan. They also made efforts to help finance the Americans Abroad semi-finalists Lindsay Wright and Suzanne Gnaegy in case either became a finalist.

In order to raise the $1,150 needed to bring a foreign student to KHS, the adult AFS chapter, the Kirkwood Police, and sponsor Miss Karen Kaufman helped initiate a fifteen mile "AFS Bicycle Ramble" which through the endeavors of over sixty participants and individual sponsors earned nearly $1,000 for the cause.

A regular and nation-wide money-maker. AFS Christmas cards provided additional funds as did the Red and White Day Donut Sale and the AFS Candy Sales.

To spur further interest in foreign peoples, various exchange students visited Kirkwood AFS homes overnight and participated on the panel in the traditional AFS assembly held for the students of KHS.

Environmentalists Stir Students' Awareness

Clem, the wolf from the North American Association for the Preservation of Predatory Animals, helped publicize Environmental Problems Club, as well as their cause, as he demonstrated his domesticated nature for science and other interested students when he visited the school early in the fall. In its third year, EPC wished to do what it could to preserve the environment and wild life as well as awaken students and members of the community to the existence of the problem.

The club, though small, continued the monumental task of recycling paper used in every room of the school. Periodically they took it to the Kirkwood Recyclatory.

With the opening of the outdoor campus eating area, members decorated litter barrels in co-operation with Student Council so the privilege of outdoor eating would not be taken away because of careless litter.

Bake sales stressing nutrition and bottle drives with handout sheets concerning the preservation of the environment financed various projects of the club. Then in the spring of the year, EPC planned activities which kindled student and community participation in order to commemorate the nation-wide Earth Week.

KØAZV Broadcasts Worldwide

One of the most unique clubs at school, the KHS Amateur Radio Club, sparked interested students in becoming hams (licensed radio operators), the final goal of members. Contacting over a hundred different countries all over the world helped fulfill additional goals of the club.

To finance their equipment, Radio Club sells 612 cans of Cashew Butter Crunch annually as their major money-making project.

The club began in 1952 with four dedicated members and a homemade transmitter and receiver worth forty dollars. They improved their equipment through the years until today's value amounts to over two thousand dollars.

Traveling to radio and T.V. stations, having an initiation dinner, holding regular lessons in code and theory, and taking part in several contests made up the club's activities for the year. One of the contests in which they participated was the D-X contest where club members spend a weekend at school, contacting as many foreign stations as possible within twenty-four consecutive hours.

All hams must pass a Federal Communications Commission test of sending and receiving thirteen words per minute in Morse Code, and a written test on radio theory and federal broadcasting laws.

Der Deutsche Verein Spurs Ethnic Interest

Under the direction of Mrs. Henrietta Steinkamp, who founded Der Deutsche Verein in 1961, members, as stated in the preamble to their constitution, "Endeavor to further the understanding of the peoples of the world by appreciating their languages and cultures, that we, as German students may, through our appreciation of the German language, become better citizens."

Seventy-two members strong, the German club has a large membership. After the formal initiation, movies, speeches by exchange students, the story of "Oberammergau", slide shows of individual journeys to Germany, songfests, and a speech by a local German chef provided varied topics for bi-monthly meetings.

The major activities gave students a chance to appreciate a variety of aspects of German culture. The Weinachtsfest, a Christmas dinner at Edelweiss Inn Restaurant; the Maifest, a trip to Hermann Missouri's German festival; a visit to Anheuser Busch Brewery; and a visit to a German Newspaper Office, Die Deutsche Wochenschrift, involved many of the members. The individual members paid for these activities. However, German bake sales and an Oster Eier, Easter egg sale, raised additional funds.

Besides sponsoring entertaining projects, the club enabled five deserving German students to become members of the National German Society, Delta Epsilon Phi of which the KHS Deutsche Verein chapter, Delta Alpha Phi, is the only chapter in Missouri.

Spanish Club Learns To Live With Others

Spanish Club encouraged acknowledgement of foreign customs and cultures. Students having completed at least one semester of Spanish are eligible to join the club.

Based on Spanish culture, activities included dining at Spanish restaurants, an "Old Souls Day" picnic designed to acquaint old members with new members, a Mexican progressive dinner in December celebrating Christmas, and finally a picnic celebration held at Lake Saint Louis.

Selling Spanish oddities for Christmas gifts, as well as having bake sales, served as money making projects throughout the year. Spanish Club's prosperity enabled it to meet all expenses of the club's activities.

Jim McDowell served as the club's president with Cheri La Vanchy, vice-president; Laura Gamble, secretary; Pattie Kuhn, treasurer, and Mrs. Kathleen Arriola, sponsor.

Student Council Gets Students Involved

Student Council served two main purposes, acting as a mediator between students and the administration and using the potential in the student body for its activities. The organization consisted of about one hundred and ten students, representing all parts of the student body. Most of the representatives are elected from their homerooms, although last year for the first time, clubs could also be represented on student council.

Magazine sales and the talent show held by student council raised money to finance its projects. They also sponsored the mock elections, collections for UNICEF and Montgomery Hyde, and the Spring Coronation Prom. Committees debated topics raised by students which included eating lunch outside, open campus, and more smoking areas throughout the school.

Student Council formed two new committees, Community Projects, which started a program for tutoring underprivileged children and planned the UNICEF drive, and the Service Committee, which attempted to bring speakers to KHS to talk to various classes.

Two famous firsts occurred in the executive committee. Bill Sanders presided as the first black president and Juli Anderson acted as the first female vice-president. Serving the needs of the student body proved to be a difficult task, as student council worked diligently throughout the year.

VICA Members Blend Education And Work

"Preparing for Leadership in the World of Work", the motto of VICA—Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, identifies the nationwide organization set up to help students gain experience in their chosen occupation.

To be a member of VICA, students must hold jobs in trade, industrial, technical and health areas. At KHS 61 members participated in this club, which is part of the COE (Cooperative Occupational Education) program. Under this program students attend school for the first half of the day, then work for the rest of the day where they are constantly supervised and graded.

VICA held an employer-employee banquet for all their members and employers and sold candy to pay for it. Participating in the VICA U.S. Skill Olympics highlighted the year for VICA members. Students from all over the country competed in endless varieties of occupational skill contests. After competing in the district Olympics, VICA members who qualified continued at state and, then, at the National Skill Olympics.

Pom-pons Add "Soul" To Interschool Sports

Last year for the first time, KHS bragged of an official pompon squad. In the school year 1971-1972, girls volunteered to form an experimental squad. The idea proved successful, so last spring an appointed committee selected eight girls to make up the 1972-1973 squad.

Practicing throughout the summer and school year, the all black squad perfected their drill routines. Providing half-time entertainment for the fans at home football and basketball games, the girls added a new dimension to KHS pep squads. New uniforms, financed jointly by the girls and the school, consisted of a red and white skirt, and white sweater, shoes, and socks.

Captain Carolyn Jones stated "We enjoy working together and making other people happy". They hope to increase the size of the squad to thirty or forty girls.

DECA Looks Ahead Preparing For Future

"Developing Future Leaders for Marketing and Distribution" was the motto of the Distributive Education Clubs of America and the goal they worked toward.

Students wishing to join DECA are required to take the Distributive Education class. Mr. Jim Graves, assisted by President Joan Deutschman, acted as sponsor of the club's eighty-six members.

Events planned for the 1972-73 year included social events, civic projects, District State Competition, as well as the National Competition.

Selling 1973 calendars, towels, Christmas candles, candy, and the regular operation of the bookstore provided DECA with sufficient funds to attend various conventions and finance the other activities of the club.

Little Theatre Attracts Talented Students

Little Theatre stimulated interest in the theatre and increased the members' knowledge of the stage through experience, fulfilling its dual purpose. They stressed more involvement by talented students and faculty in their presentations on stage.

After organizing for the new year, the theatre began work on a two act comedy called Forty Carats. Jane Burkholder, student director, assisted Mr. Nolan Hansen, sponsor of the club, in directing this play.

At Christmas, Little Theatre presented Charlie Brown's Christmas to several elementary schools in the district. Mr. Hansen directed the senior play, Splendor In The Grass, while a spring musical ended its season.

Throughout the year, Little Theatre held workshops to develop the technical knowledge and acting ability of its members and to help them in their point system.

Little Theatre members worked hard on stage and behind the scenes to earn points in order to make them eligible for Thespians and eventually Honor Thespians. The latter status, the highest award for students in high school theatrics, went to very few people.

Independent Theater Presents "Carnival"

Enthusiastic students who enjoy dramatics enough to perform beyond the traditional two plays of Little Theatre formed Independent Theater and presented the musical "Carnival" on February 8 and 10.

Lili, played by Debbie Shumate, a small town orphan girl, learned when she joined the carnival that hatred, bitterness, and jealousy existed in the world.

The bright innocent face of Lili ignited a spark of hope to the declining carnival and to Paul Berthalet, a resentful man played by Craig Wilson. Clark Cole, portraying Marco the Magnificent, and Debbie Wallace, characterizing Rosalie, both added color to "Carnival."

Hockey Enthusiasts

Create Club Team

Exceptional success marked the initial season of the Kirkwood High Hockey Club. A member of the twenty-eight team Mid-States Club Hockey Association, the KHS club swept through the first sixteen games of the schedule with a 12-2-2 record.

Led by captain Jim Brinkmeyer, the Pioneer skaters backed up strong goaltending by Wayne Deutsch and John Kern with steady defensive play by juniors Stuart Chomeau and Brinkmeyer and sophomore Rick Neibling. Juniors Steve McElroy, Doug Luther and Brinkmeyer, and sophomores Todd Neu, Dean Patrick and Steve Morgan spearheaded Kirkwood's explosive attack. Puck dominance by underclassmen prophesies a bright future for the club.

Sparked by a midseason contest against Ladue, in which the KHS skaters rallied in the third period only to fall short, 5-4, Kirkwood rolled through the next six games with five wins and one tie. Key victories over rival Webster, 4-1, and Chaminade, 2-1, highlighted the drive for a play-off berth for the first-year team.

Art Club's Creativity, Appreciation Flourish

After being discontinued in 1967, the twenty-one year old Art Club revived itself in 1971 by popular request.

Mrs. Marilyn Gaa sponsored Art students in their endeavors to, as she stated, "explore visual arts media and make art more a part of the high school and community."

Meeting every second and fourth Wednesdays, Art Club started the year with publicity, inviting new members. After travelling to exhibits at the St. Louis Art Museum, the members later got down to work.

The first major project, the Turkey Day float, involved imagination and perseverance. After forming a mock orange juicer and orange, the members dressed themselves as Webster oranges and joined in the parade.

With Christmas came an important money making project. Christmas cards were designed, printed, and sold by the members for the club's finances.

Through cooperative efforts with other organizations, Art Club demonstrated its talents. They also visited various art shows containing varied media as well as experimenting in new media themselves.

CALL Staff Publishes Quality Newspaper

Publishing a bi-weekly journalistically recognized school newspaper, the CALL staff, composed of sophomores, juniors, and seniors, worked diligently during the year and compiled a total of eighteen papers.

In addition, the staff complemented the regular issues with a twelve-page "Senior Issue" of the CALL honoring the seniors at the end of the year.

Through the year, CALL published the football program for home games and co-sponsored the Christmas formal with PIONEER to supplement their finances.

Each member of the twenty-two student staff, who ranked in the upper third of his class, earned scholastic credit for his efforts in class and after-school.

THE KIRKWOOD HIGH SCHOOL JOURNAL started in 1902 and became the CALL in 1908 after Webster's paper became the ECHO. Early CALL staffs progressed from petty news items to printing informative and entertaining articles of major interest to the school and community.

Since 1967 the CALL has earned the highest awards in the nation from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association (Medalist), and the National Scholastic Press Association (All American). From the Missouri Interscholastic Press Association came the highest award in Missouri (All Missouri). They also earned for two consecutive years a first place sweepstakes award from the Sponsors of School Publications Association, a local organization. Thus they attained local, state, and national recognition.

Media Creates Films From Script To Finish

Gradual growth since 1969 resulted in Media's present size of nearly fifty members. Founded as a part of Camera Club, the six original members first used the worn equipment of Mr. Arthur Stout, their sponsor.

This year members of Media obtained and operated superior equipment for better quality films. In order to finance the new gear, several major productions turned into money makers. They showed several "Kiddy Matinees" and presented films during study halls and at the Senior Carnival. A rummage sale also helped lessen the deficit.

In March a well known project, The Donkey Basketball Game, involved students and faculty in an evening of good humor. A new project, showing old-time movies like the "Keystone Cops", "Dracula", and "Son of The Shiek," proved successful last November.

In 1972, Film Makers of Greater St. Louis awarded Media two first prizes for the "Best Drama" and "Best Commercial", and two second prizes for the "Best Comedy" and "Best Documentary" in the area.

As Media President Alex Lindberg stated, "The main purpose is to have fun learning how to make a sound motion picture. This goal we accomplished. . ."

Pioneer Is A Nice Reflection Of You

After winning the "All-Missouri" award for the 1972 yearbook, the 1973 PIONEER staff was determined to publish an even better book. The award is the highest given in Missouri by the MIPA (Missouri Interscholastic Press Association) for outstanding yearbooks.

Under the pressure of deadlines, each staff division worked steadily to get its job done on time. To satisfy the students all staff members labored to improve journalistic principles in creating a superior yearbook.

The adviser for PIONEER, Mrs. Charlotte Bell Conley, shared her journalistic knowledge and enthusiasm with the staff. She has attended seminars of CSPA (Columbia Scholastic Press Association) at Columbia University School of Journalism in New York and MIPA seminars at Missouri University in Columbia, Missouri to keep up with new techniques and ideas in school publications.

PIONEER co-sponsored, with the CALL, the Christmas formal. Above all the PIONEER staff's main activity involved capturing the school life for 1972-1973 at KHS for everyone to enjoy for years to come.

A Cappella Combines Talented '73' Voices

Membership in the A Cappella choir was very select and was based on individual tryouts. The choir met every school day with their director, Mr. John Owen.

The choir, which consisted of 73 voices, practiced challenging choral arrangements and learned the art of sight reading. As a performing group it gained satisfaction by working on all the musical numbers.

A Cappella not only performed its main concerts at Christmas and in the spring for the high school, but it made several appearances for other community groups. The choir sang at St. Joseph's Hospital, went Christmas caroling, sang at several elementary schools, and performed for the Kirkwood Rotary Club.

In January the A Cappella choir sang for the National Music Teacher's Association in Jefferson City. To raise funds for the trip, each choir member sold several boxes of humorous and all occasion cards.

The group had a record made in the spring of the year to provide choir members, their families, and friends with a memento of the 1972-73 choir.

Choruses Harmonize Musical Arrangements

Mixed, Sophomore Girls' and Advanced Girls' Choruses performed in the Christmas Concert and the Fine Arts Music Festival, along with the A Cappella choir.

Mr. John Owen, director, stressed artistic singing in all his groups by challenging them with difficult choral arrangements. He held several rehearsals for ensembles and various sections of his choirs after school to improve their musical performances.

Chorus members utilized techniques for perfecting a piece of music and a knowledge of music history and theory in hopes of attaining the honor of being selected a member of the A Cappella choir.

Debate Team Declared An Interschool Sport

Debate Team attempted to provide extemporaneous speaking experience as well as proper debate form when it tackled the year's national topic, "One Hundred Percent Financing of Public Schools by the Federal Government."

Activities included participation in interschool debates and invitational. Workshops and debate classes were attended by Junior Varsity members during the year.

Debate Team has been in existence since the beginning of Kirkwood High School and has maintained a good standing in the National Forensic League.

Formerly classified as a club, Debate Team received recognition from Mr. Donald Duchek, principal, as an interschool sport after petitioning by the team members.

Good speaking ability and the exercising of good logic in addition to a 3.0 or better grade average were the prerequisites for membership.

A Spring bicycle race served as a principal money-making project for the twelve members of Debate Team.

Concert Orchestra Develops Appreciation

By practicing in class and performing on stage, Concert Orchestra students developed an appreciation for different styles of music. These students found playing pleasurable, and several planned to go on into professional music careers.

Mr. Burton Isaac, orchestra director, presented several concerts as a cultural service for the community. They presented their first concert the night of December 7, for orchestra members' families and KHS students. The next week, December 14 and 15, over fifteen hundred elementary and junior high students in the district came to the KHS auditorium to hear the orchestra perform.

KHS Fine Arts Music Festival in the spring combined the talents of the orchestra and the other music students, both instrumental and vocal.

Members of Concert Orchestra participated in the annual St. Louis Suburban Music Festival. They not only performed as a whole, but some performed solos in other divisions of competition.

From all their activities both on stage and off, Concert Orchestra members gained a musical experience that will benefit them throughout their lives.

KHS Band Marches Into Concert Season

Practicing throughout the year, the sixty seven piece Kirkwood High School band prepared its marches and concert numbers. During the fall, the band played at all home football games and pep assemblies. Performing along with the band during halftime festivities, Kathy Cavender entertained the fans with her well executed baton twirling stunts. The band also marched in the Green Tree Festival Parade.

After the marching season had drawn to a close, band members donned concert clothes and exchanged marching pieces for concert music. Mr. Burton Isaac, band director, held tryouts for rank in the instrumental sections of the band. Performances in February and May highlighted the concert season.

Band members also participated in the Suburban Band Festival and Solo and Ensemble Festival, playing before experts who judged their performances. These activities rounded out a full year of every type of Marching and Concert Band Music.

Varsity Club Supports Athletic Program

Varsity lettermen had the chance to join Varsity Club. It began the year with about thirty active participants. Membership increased throughout the year as athletes received Varsity letters. Varsity Club supported athletics, providing any requested or needed help.

The club met bi-monthly, combining work and fun at their meetings. Operating the scoreboard for B-Team football games, playing the National Anthem and ushering at all home basketball games, and selling Turkey Day tickets and buttons occupied much of Varsity Club's time. The athletic fund at KHS paid for a banquet in the spring honoring the lettermen.

K-Klub Adds Interest In Girls' Intramurals

K-Klub helped to promote girls' intramurals and the interschool system of activities. The girls met every other Friday with their sponsor, Mrs. Rita Krueger.

To be a member each girl had to receive one hundred intramural points which earned her a "block K". To encourage participation, the officers decorated the lockers of new girls that were eligible to join the club.

Money-making projects held throughout the year, raised funds for their activities. Members sold Turkey Day tickets, held several bake sales, and sold team stickers at home basketball games.

K-Klub held a "Koke Party" in the fall to stimulate interest in the club at which time they explained girls' intramural system to sophomore girls.

Entering a car in the annual Turkey Day parade brought the organization first prize.

The girls also sponsored the selection of the 1973 Hatchet man. K-Klub made the nominations, and then the whole school voted for the most outstanding senior man.

Other activities held were a Mother-Daughter Tea, a Father-Daughter Banquet, and a picnic held in the spring to elect next year's officers.

BPC Stimulates Fans As Excitement Soars

Boys' Pep Club stimulated Pioneer spirit causing much excitement at sports events. With an emphasis on supporting sports, members of BPC encouraged school spirit through projects sponsored by the club.

In addition to raising the spirit of all the fans, BPC provided students with an unforgettable Turkey Day bonfire in its new location between the arts and guidance buildings and an evening pep rally held in the boys' gym. Red derbies topped off many proud heads and displayed Pioneer loyalty by purchasing these hats from Boys' Pep Club. New projects planned by the club included banners for the gym and basketball cheers led by club members.

Membership consisted primarily of students who actually participated in the athletic programs. Good sportsmanship, an important goal of the high school athletic program, is a trait displayed by Boys' Pep Club.

Cheerleaders Spice KHS Athletic Events

Cheerleaders transferred their enthusiasm into the crowds that gathered at sports events. Eager fans shouted cheers like, "We're from Kirkwood, couldn't be prouder. Can't hear us now, so we'll yell a little louder."

Varsity Cheerleaders served on two equal squads this year. In the past one squad cheered for the major sports and another cheered for minor sports. Eight sophomore cheerleaders cheered at B-team athletic events. In the spring of their freshman year four girls were elected from North Junior High School and four from Nipher Junior High School to make up a B-team cheering squad.

The cheerleaders sponsored a car wash and a bottle drive to raise money for Turkey Day decorations. Eating breakfast with Webster cheerleaders before the Turkey Day game and cheering at a Cardinal football game highlighted the year for the Red Peppers. Cheerleaders occasionally held parties for team members and made them cookies and other treats to bolster team spirit.

Pep Club Adds Spirit To Athletic Activities

"Girls' Pep Club perks Pioneer power" proved to be an accurate description of the club's efforts as well as a good motto for all members as they created school spirit and increased student interest in athletics.

Bake sales, a large returnable bottle collection drive, the selling of Pioneer Pumpkins and Turkey Day tickets enabled the club to buy needed supplies.

Turkey Day preparations added the excitement of anticipation for the Turkey Day game against Webster. Red and White Day began at 4:00 a.m. for many dedicated Pep Club members. Putting team work into action, they boosted pioneer pride as they decorated the entire school campus and buildings. Streamers and balloons covered many cars and floats in the annual Turkey Day parade.

Swimming, soccer, golf, tennis, basketball, track, baseball, and cross-country kept the girls in Pep Club busy. Posters predicting Pioneer victories over various opponents along with the decoration of team members' lockers, urged athletes on to victory.

Pep Club honored the coaches, applauding each coach for the work he had done during the season.

Girls' Pep Club members conveyed school spirit, interest, and awareness, providing greater involvement and unity of all Kirkwood High students.

Underclassmen Add Strength To Harriers

Led by senior Frank Currotto, the Kirkwood High Roadrunners had two wins and two losses in Triangular meets. The Pioneer Harriers also performed well in invitational competition, finishing fourth at House Springs, fifth at Edwardsville, seventh at Ladue, and tenth at Hancock. Kirkwood also came through with a fifth place finish at the District Meet.

The improvement of Kirkwood's young runners marked the most encouraging development of the season. Jim Groninger emerged as Kirkwood's hope for the future as he and the other underclassmen worked to return the Pioneers to the top. Sophomores Kenny Ford and Jeff Zeis added strength to the team weakened by injuries to key personnel.

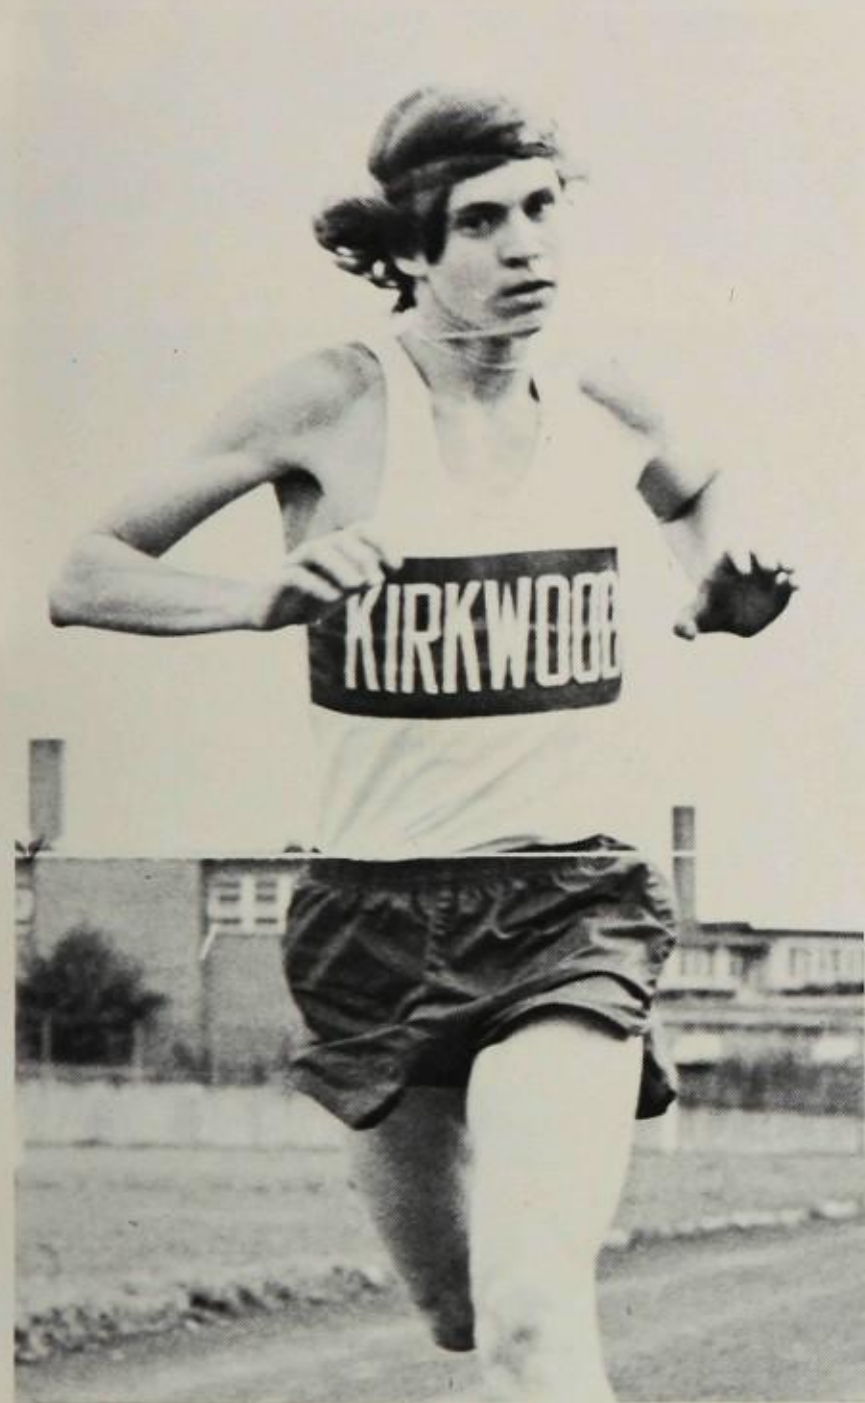

Currotto's outstanding performance during the year led the Pioneers in the meets. He also advanced to Regional competition at the end of the season.

The improvement of the hard-working underclassmen on this year's team indicates that Kirkwood Cross Country has a strong future.

Gridmen Go 6-3-1 Settle For Jug

Inability to win the final two games of the season kept the Pioneers from claiming the Suburban South Conference title. An 8-8 tie with the Lingbergh Flyers and a 12-8 loss to Webster Groves marked the only blemishes on the gridmen's Conference record.

The Pioneers won the first three games of the season, including a key 6-2 victory over the Ladue Rams. Kirkwood was the only team to beat Ladue all season!

Non-Conference losses to SLUH and Vianney did not affect the Pioneer's first place league standing. The Kirkwood footballers put together another streak of three wins beating Parkway Central, University City, and Parkway North by convincing margins.

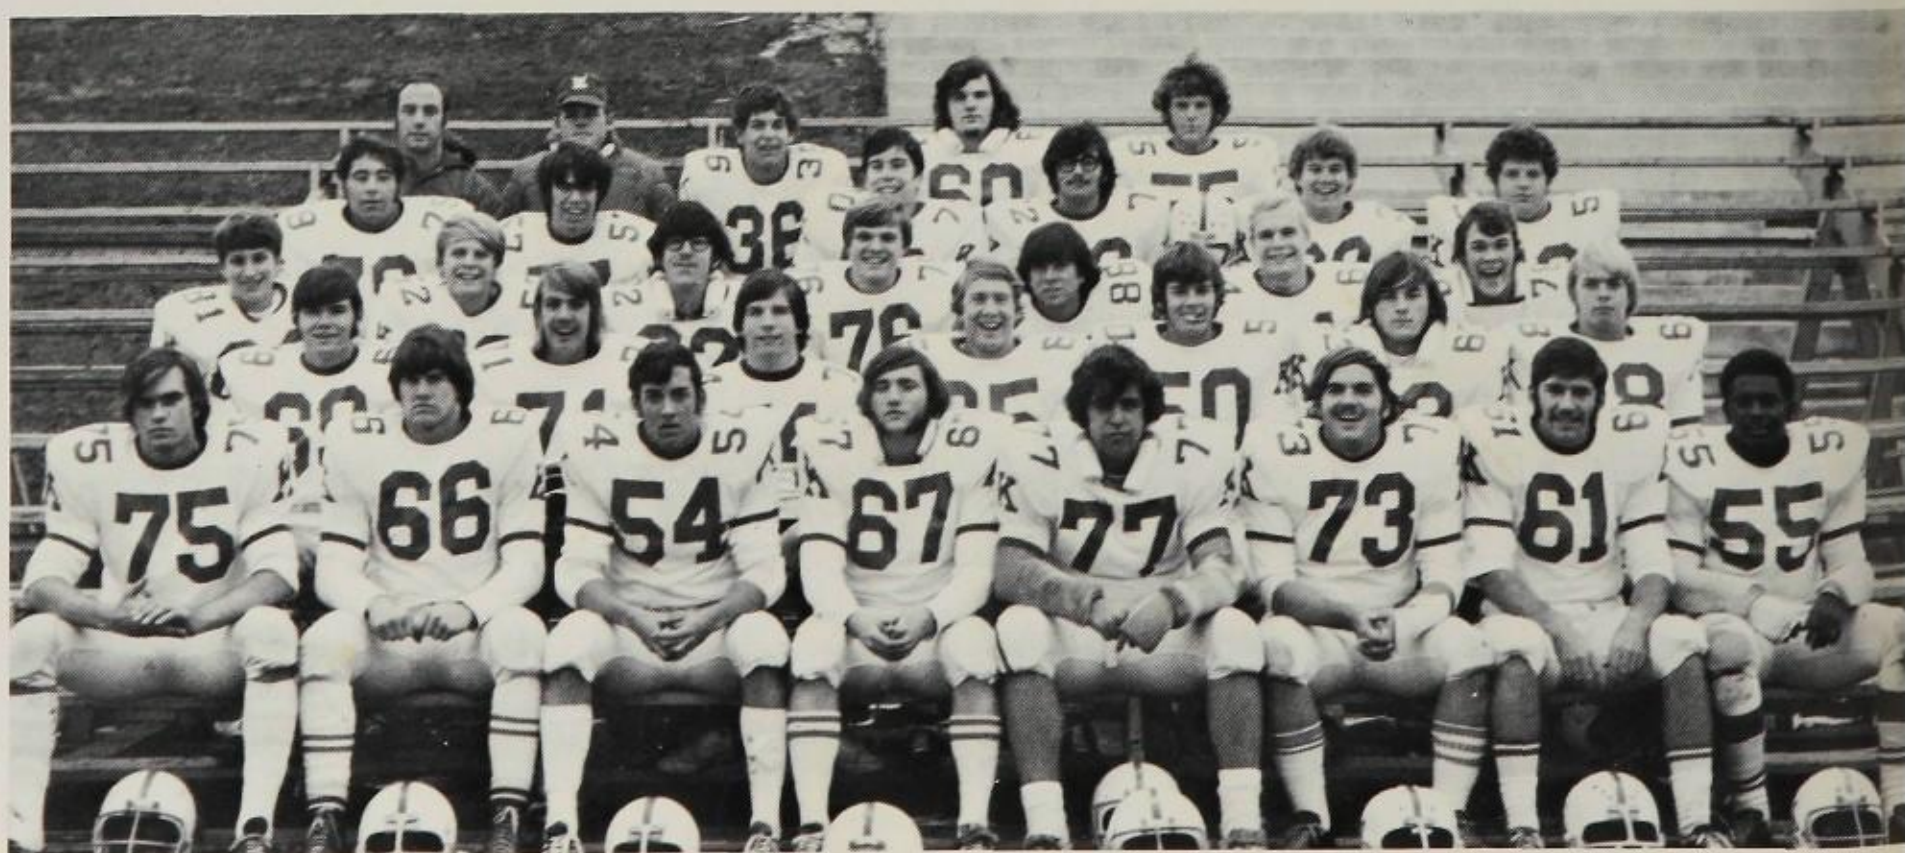

These victories were highlighted by Kirkwood's big play defense and a steady offense. Carl Luecke spearheaded the defense from his middle linebacker position, while K.K. Richey exploded for big gains for the offense.

The defense continued to play well in the final two games but the offense hurt itself with costly turnovers that enabled Lindbergh and Webster to foil Pioneer title hopes. Webster also carted off the Frisco Bell.

Fred Bueler, John Lenich, and Carl Luecke were named to the All Conference team at the end of the season. Bueler also captured a berth on the all district team, capping a fine season for the Pioneer team.

B-Team Saves Year By Brilliant Defense

Sophomore football in 1972 had great possibilities but couldn't put it together offensively. Defensively, the B-teamers had a great season, allowing their opponents only 20 points in seven games.

Ray Pepin provided another highlight for the B-team Pioneers with his outstanding punting. His booming spirals often put the opponents deep in their own territory. The defense scored several touchdowns throughout the year and also gave the offense many opportunities to score.

When the offense moved, Jimmy "Tadpole" Hall usually moved them. The twisting, turning moves of Hall often left the opponents floundering in his path.

With the cancellation of the Parkway North game because of their lack of players, the team ended the season with a 3-1-3 record. One of the ties came as Kirkwood and Webster Groves battled to a 12-12 deadlock. Kirkwood's B-team has not lost to Webster for nine years.

Coach Czapla hoped that the players gained experience and developed a positive attitude that will help them in future years in sports.

Wrestlers Finish 3rd In District Meet

Strong performances by Dave Fillo and Dean Mosby led the Kirkwood wrestling team this year. Both Fillo and Mosby, who were named co-captains, qualified for the State Tournament at Columbia. A second place finish by Fillo enabled the Pioneers to place 14th in the State Meet.

The Varsity Grapplers had a 4-7 meet record including an outstanding 27-25 victory over Lindbergh.

With the graduation of standouts Fillo, Mosby and Greg Hunter, the Pioneers will have a young team next season. Help should come from Kevin Fillo, Dane Richardson, Toby Koonce and other members of this year's Junior Varsity squad. The Pioneer Jayvees posted an 8-6 record and the Sophomore team finished at 5-3. The standouts from those teams will join returning lettermen George Billy, Oscar Dixon, Jerry Borg and Bill Painter for next year.

Strokers Go 8-4

Divers Unbeaten

Coach Wilson Stocker's strokers completed another good season, finishing with an 8-4 season record. The swimmers also captured second place at the Conference meet while placing third at District and fifth at State.

The schedule, which opened with weaker teams and built up to the strongest teams in the state, helped prepare the Pioneers for the competition in the District and State meets. Teams that the strokers faced included State Champion Lindbergh and runner up Chaminade. Interestingly, teams from the Suburban South Conference captured four of the top five places in the State Meet.

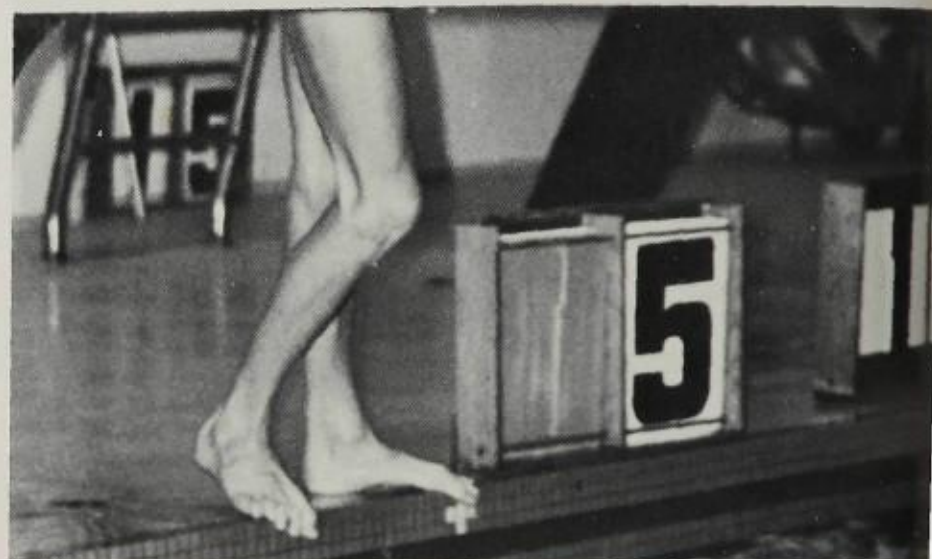

Excellent diving performances by High School All American Tom Kenyon, backed up by those of Greg Garlich, again highlighted the season. Remaining unbeaten, Kenyon and Garlich placed first and second at State, with Kenyon shattering his record from last year. Largely as a result of this outstanding diving the last four years, Kenyon received recognition as the 1973 Scholar Athlete. Carrying a hefty grade point average, Tom combined athletics and academics in serving KHS.

Rob Weddell, a leader throughout the season, turned in a fine performance at State. These seniors, along with Ben Phillips and Paul Kerridge, will be missed next year.

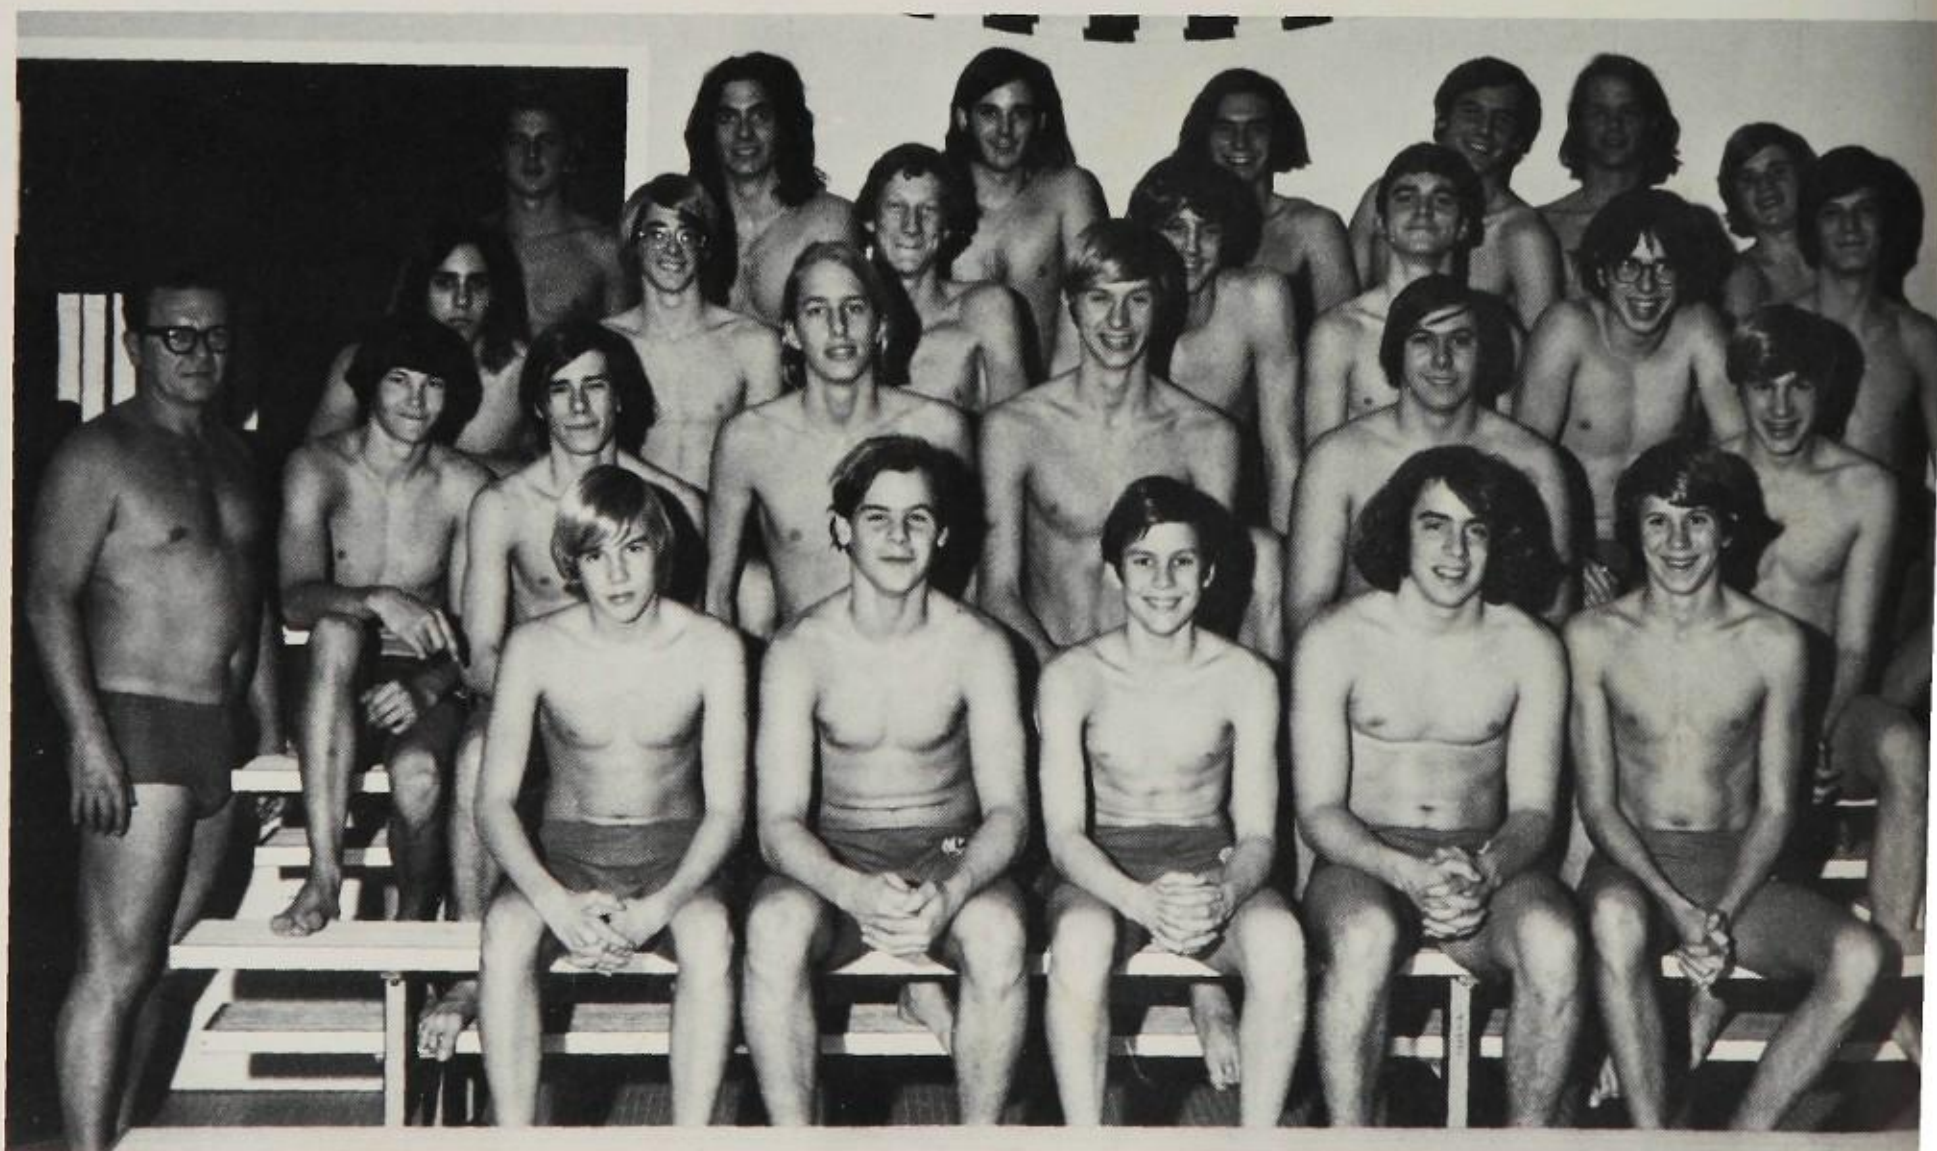

However, Coach Stocker holds high hopes for the 1973-74 season. The outstanding abilities of the underclassmen on this squad merits those hopes. Joe Hawkins, Chris Wunderlich, and Bob Schnitzius, just a few of a fine returning crop, hope to continue Kirkwood's tradition of fine teams with depth and unity as well as outstanding individuals.

Millermen Go 27-2

Finish Second—Again

Hard work and dedication paved the way toward unexpected greatness for the 1972-73 Basketball Team. Quickness and hustle filled the gap left by lack of height.

Following the 31-1 record of the 1971-72 team, Pioneer fans wondered what Kirkwood could do for an encore. The Pioneers showed them. Led by Bill Moulder they swept through the Maplewood Tournament taking home most of the trophies. Besides the first place trophy, Robert Williams, Shane Cotner, and Bill Moulder carted off individual awards with Moulder named as the M.V.P. Kirkwood continued to roll as they whipped their next six opponents. An 8-0 record gave the Pioneers the top seed for the annual Normandy Christmas Tournament, but Riverview Gardens put the only blemish on the Pioneer's regular season record in two years.

However, Kirkwood came back even stronger after that loss. Despite the injuries and illness to Dave Cordes, the Pioneers ran their opposition right off of the floor time after time. Scott Markle amazed spectators with his quick, daring style of play. The cool headed floor leadership of Moulder complimented this perfectly to give Kirkwood the best backcourt combination in the state. Scott Schulte and Shane Cotner, deadly shooters from their forward positions and center Robert Williams, controlling play around the basket, combined to form an excellent forecourt. While these five provided most of the punch, Dick Russell, Ken Carnahan, Danny Williams, and Cordes added needed support.

The Millermen again dominated the Suburban South Conference remaining unbeaten by league teams over the last two years. In spite of this fantastic record the league coaches voted only one Kirkwood player to the all-league teams. Bill Moulder made first team all conference guard for the second straight year.

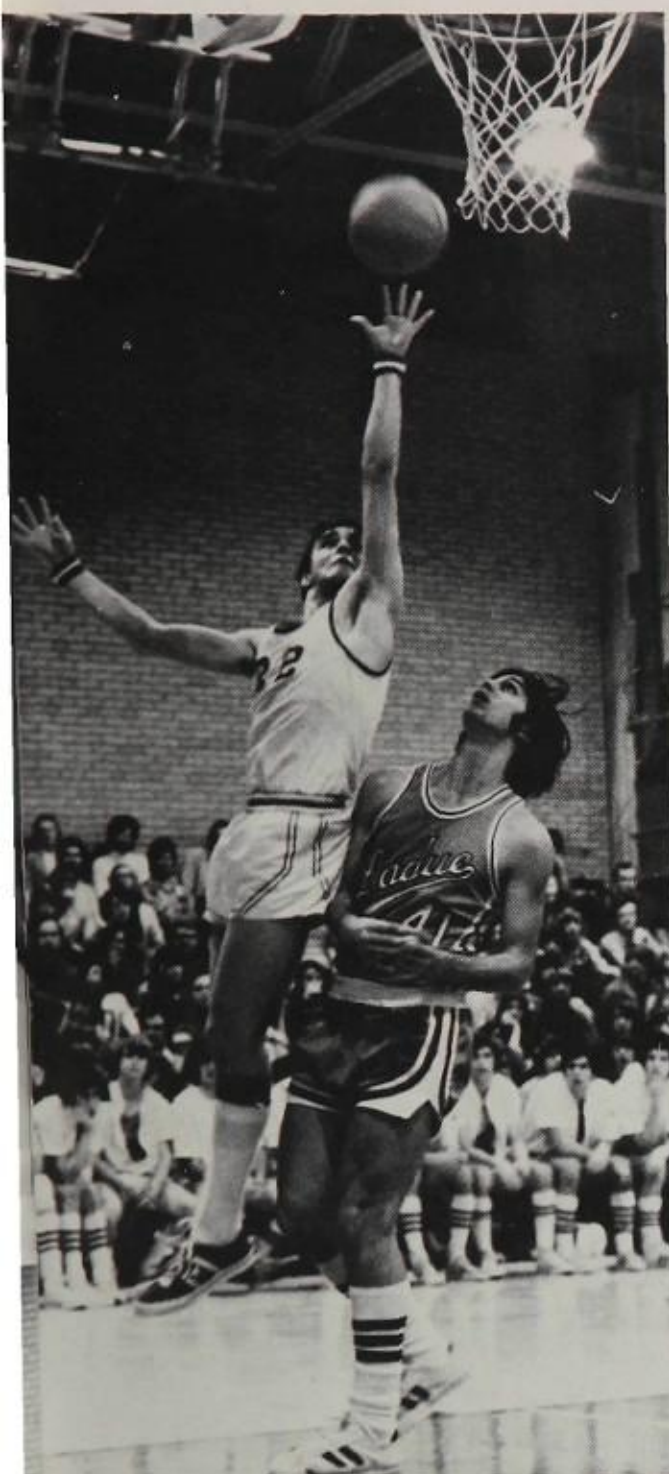

Winning the regional title for the third straight year, the Pioneers entered State Tournament competition. Victories over Sikeston and S.L.U.H. gave the Pioneers a ticket to the Semi-finals at Columbia. The Millermen defeated Kansas City Paseo and once again entered the finals. De Smet provided the opposition. Although the Pioneers trounced De Smet, 82-70, earlier in the year, an improved Spartan team caught the Pioneers on a cold shooting night, winning the State Class L Title, 51-47.

Although Kirkwood finished in the runner up position the last two years, they compiled the best won-loss record of Class L schools each time. The team, Coach Miller, Kirkwood High School, and KHS basketball fans take pride in this fantastic record.

Improved B-Team Finish Season At 7-11

Despite a sub par 7-11 record, this year's Sophomore Basketball team kept Pioneer fans on the edge of their seats with several thrilling victories. In the poorest start in years the B-Pioneers stumbled to an 0-6 record before defeating Parkway North.

That victory gave the B-Teamers a lift; they won five of the next seven games. One exciting victory, over the first place U. City Indians, starred Hank Leavens, the "shoot-ingest" guard in the league, who hit two free throws with eight seconds left to ice the triumph.

The Sophomores nearly broke a school record by holding the Cleveland Dutchmen to 24 points while scoring 53 themselves. Victories over Ladue and Webster avenged losses suffered earlier in the season.

Improvement by all the players, the key factor in turning losses into victories, saved the B-Ballers from an embarrassing season. Dave Haenni, who showed the most improvement of all, rebounded well for Coach Meyer's Roundballers. He received defensive help from Mike Holley and Willie Jackson. Dave McKee and Hank Leavens provided the floor leadership and outside shooting.

The outlook for next year appears unusually promising as three freshmen Andy Hokstra, Greg Haenni, and Mike Gordon added support this season.

Trackmen Compete In Long, Tough Season

Grueling after school workouts designed to tune human running machines to maximum proficiency greeted many prospective tracksters this spring. Competing in running events such as the mile run, 880-yard run, and shorter sprints and field events such as the pole vault, high jump, long jump, shotput and discus throw, over one hundred boys attended tryouts in early March.

Led by head Coach Don Shannon and assistants Roger Coombs, Ron Rushen, and Alvin Williams, the KHS cindermen took to the track with hopes of completing yet another successful season. Once again, foul weather hindered progress in the early season.

Only a few quality returnees aided a team composed mainly of underclassmen. Frank Curotto, one of the areas finest distance runners, displayed his abilities in the 880 yard run, mile run, and two mile run. Hurdler Mike Kyriakos and high jumper Tom Haenni added excellent performances in the field events.

A lack of indoor facilities eliminated the indoor track season, which normally precedes the outdoor activities. An intra-squad meet in Lyons' Stadium on Saturday, March 24 provided a competitive atmosphere prior to final cuts for the team.

Coach Don Shannon felt that this was primarily a rebuilding year. The addition of many sophomores and a new sprint coach hold high hopes for the next years' teams.

Tennis Team Defends Suburban South Title

Tough head-to-head competition again highlighted the Pioneer Tennis workouts. The boys played intra-squad matches to decide who will fill the top spots and make the team. Outstanding players Scott Bakula, Steve Lumpkin, and John Calahan returned to lead this year's team in its quest for a second consecutive Suburban South Conference Title.

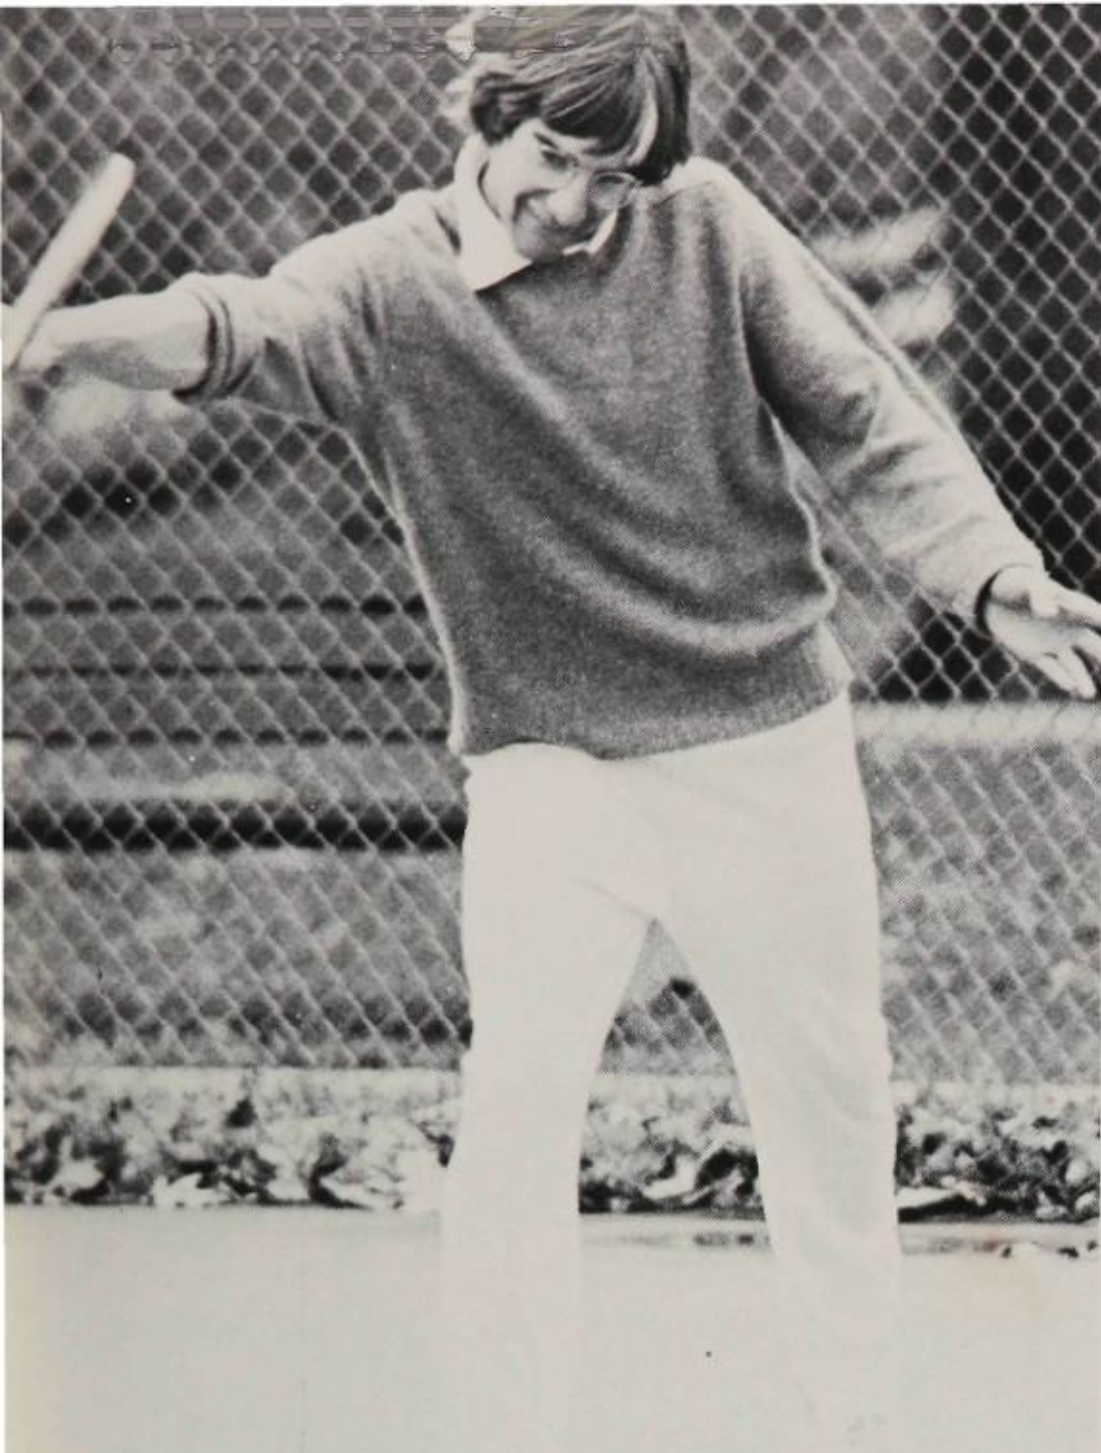

Coach Art Stout's enthusiasm carried through to the Netmen as they prepared to defend their Conference Title. Parkway West and Lindbergh, Suburban South rivals, provided the Pioneers' top opposition.

The Sophomore Team played a similar schedule and remain as one of the top teams in the conference.

Diamondmen Surge, Avenge '72 Losses

Sunshine and warm breezes marked the beginning of the 1973 Varsity Baseball season. With the return of many stars from last year's team hopes rose for a successful season again this year.

Scott Markle, John Lenich, Dick Russell, Fred Bueler, and Dave Cordes, returnees from last season, headed the attack. With the outstanding members from the 1972 sophomore team they made the diamondmen tough again.

Coaches Denver Miller and Luis Diaz stressed fundamentals in workouts. Practices took place indoors and outdoors in order to keep the sharp timing necessary to compete in the tough Suburban South Conference.

Coach Collier Takes Over B-Team Baseball

In his first year at the helm of the Sophomore Baseball Team, Coach Jack Collier drilled his players into winning form in the short amount of practice time.

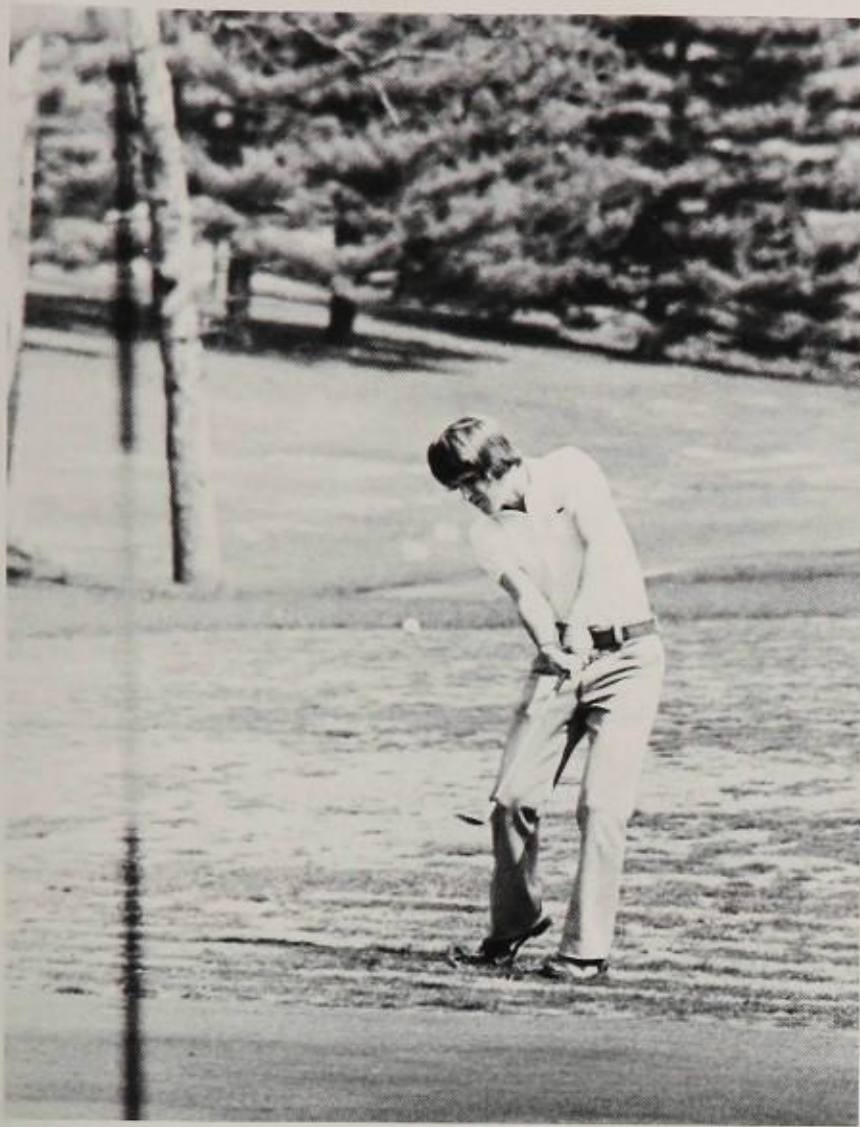

The B-Pioneers achieved a balance of offense and defense while relying on an inexperienced pitching staff to battle Suburban South opponents.

Coach Collier explained that the B-Teamers spent much time working on the "little things that win ball games." Coach Collier pointed out that it is these items such as smart base running and cut-off plays that make the difference in many games. As in the past the Sophomore Diamondmen practiced at Tillman School, while home games took place at the Kirkwood High field.

Golfers Swing Into League, Tourney Play

Coach Bill Lenich and the Kirkwood High Golfers received a pleasant surprise when Matt Townly, a top golfer in the Kansas City area, moved in to add strength to the relatively inexperienced Pioneer squad.

Mike Lechner, Fred Mitchell, and Dave Carney returned to lead the Pioneers to a high Conference standing. In the competitive Suburban South, Parkway Central and Webster remained as top flight teams.

Coach Lenich stated that Pioneer success came through improvement of scores by the top five players, and praised them for their hard work.

Class Teams' Success Shows Future Promise

Strong class teams characterized Girls' Volleyball. The junior team, suffering its only loss to Lafayette, finished with a 4-1 record. The undefeated senior and sophomore teams recorded 5-0 and 4-0 respectively.

Strength from the class teams promised a successful varsity squad. Four players from each class made up the team. Spiking specialists Pam Cherry, Mildred Edmonds, Sandy and Debbie Ruble and Rosemary Miller led the offense, while Cathy Manse and Carol Wallace sparked the defensive plays. In addition, the varsity depended on its top servers, Cindy Fiegenbaum and Lynn Merriweather, to help the team to a winning record.

Sophomores Trudge Through 2-5-5 Year

B-Team Soccer in 1972-73 came up with a losing season, as they finished with a 2-5-5 record. Injuries plagued the B-Pioneers, causing Coach Cook to vary the playing lines throughout the season.

Cook recalled the best team effort to be against University City's Junior Varsity. Even though the game ended in a 1-1 deadlock, Cook said the team showed what kind of ball they could play.

AS the Ladue Tournament began, the team hoped to do well, but CBC entertained other ideas as they delivered the Pioneers a 6-0 whitewash.

Players voted Steve Blackwell, the number one scorer for the team, Most Valuable Player for a good reason. Blackwell scored almost one-third of the team's goals, adding assists on four others. Chosen as tri-captains by the team, Blackwell, John Berndsen, and John Lapides led the B-Pioneers.

Returning freshmen will have to work for their positions, as Cook plans to pick the best team possible.

Soccer Overcomes Mud, Slush, Opponents

Despite the worst playing conditions in years, the Varsity Soccer Team came through with a 13-7-1 record while winning the District Title in the State Tournament.

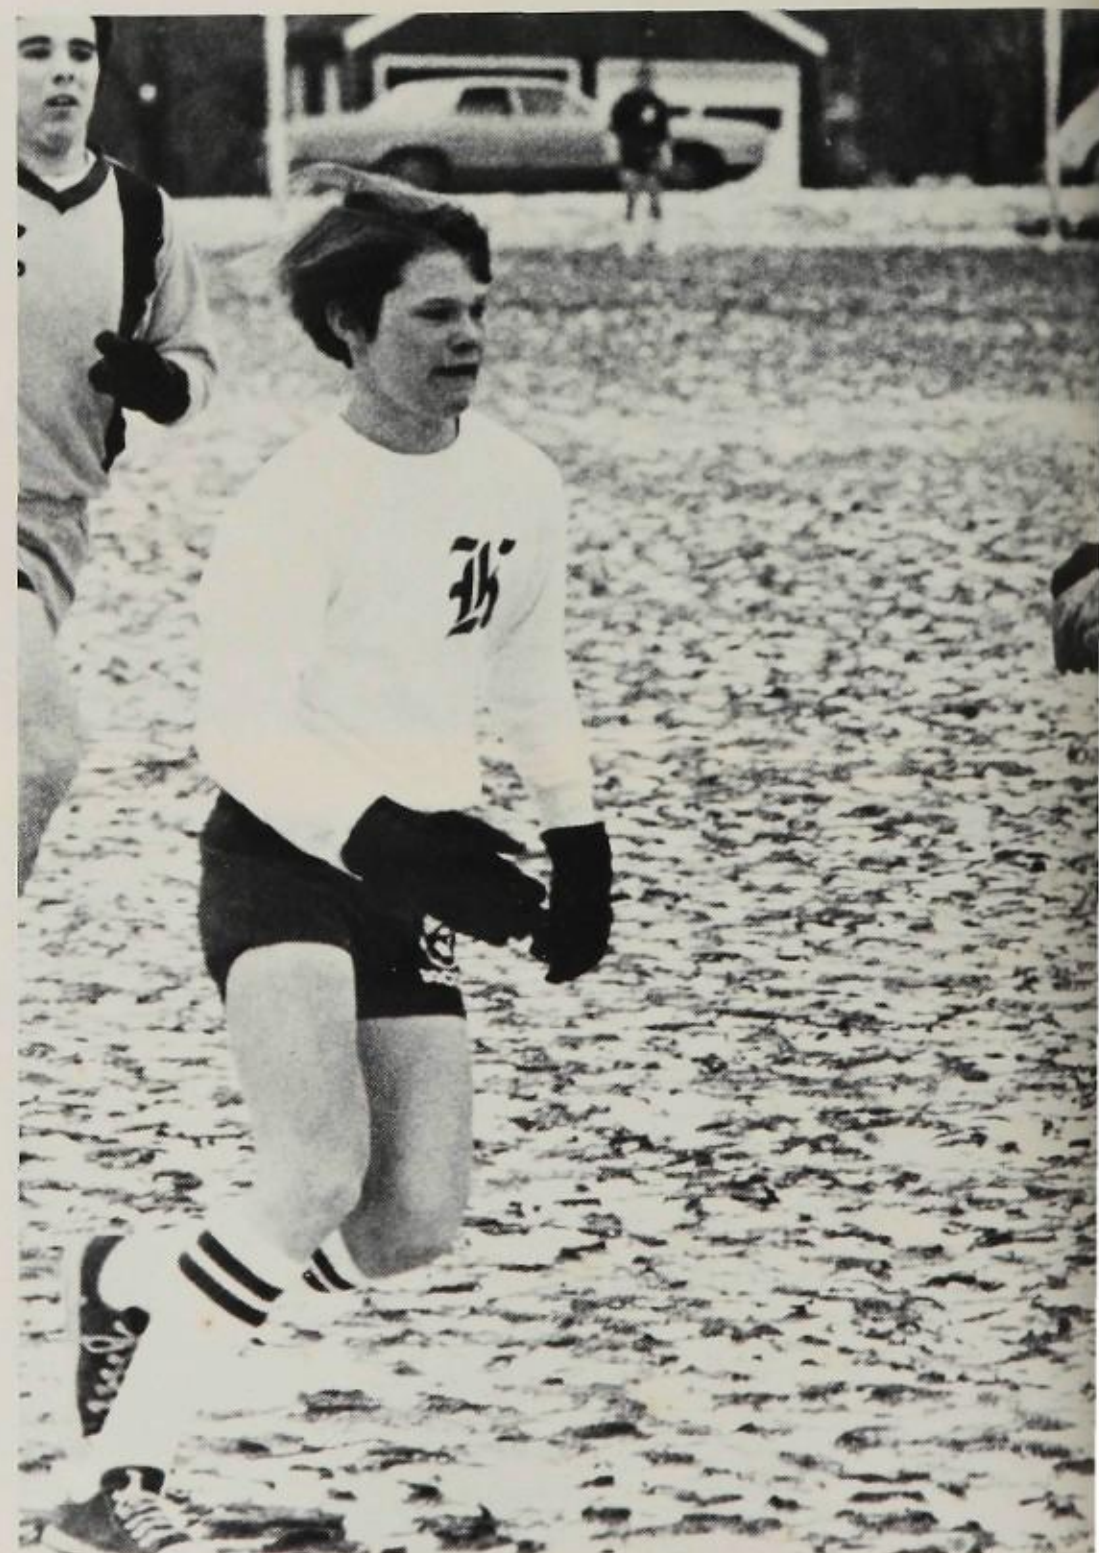

The tournament showed the Pioneer's true strength as they advanced to the Semi-Finals before losing 2-0 to SLUH.

Injuries and illness also were a problem in the regular season, but the ground ballers remained tough and committed a 7-3 conference log. The ability of inexperienced players to fill the gaps proved to be one of the keys to the Pioneers' success.

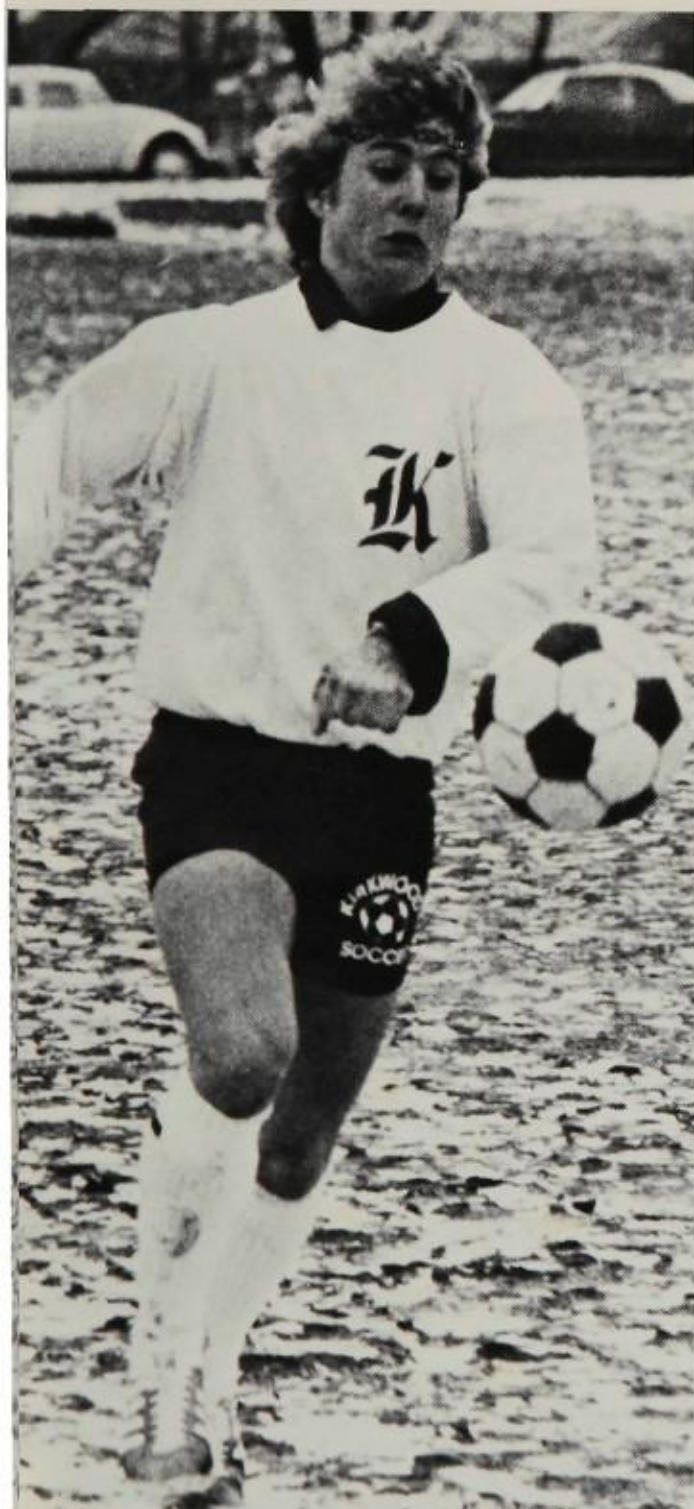

Kevin Handlan and Jim Goodall provided the scoring punch up front while Scott Bakula and Tom Fontana anchored the defense. Handlan and Goodall made the All Conference First Team, and Junior Andy Davenport was named to the second team. Bakula and Fontana received honorable mention for their efforts.

The weather conditions frustrated the players and the fans, causing a cancellation of the Suburban South Tournament. "The conditions," said Coach Czapla, "didn't do justice to the game or the abilities of the players." The great finish of the Pioneers in the State Tournament stood out as the brightest highlight in a muddy season.

Seniors Dominate Girls' Basketball

Showing a great deal of improvement over last season's 0-3 record, the '73 Senior Girls' class team bounced back this year to a remarkable 4-0 season.

While the seniors were stomping all their opponents, the junior and sophomore class teams showed records of 1-2 and 2-2 respectively.

Varsity basketball, with seniors leading the way, had an impressive season record of 5 wins and 1 loss. The game against Clayton, which they won 65-44, marked the highest scoring contest of a KHS girls' basketball team since 1962. Also in that game co-captain Pam Cherry scored her career high of 20 points.

Co-captain Peggy Norwood tied the KHS girls' individual high score record with 26 points, a fact which led the team to a 44-29 victory over Ritenour.

With the help of teammates Mildred Edmonds, Sue Eldh and Cindy Feigenbaum, the varsity squad also scored wins over Pattonville, 33-27; Brentwood, 46-31; and Webster, 38-30; with their only loss being to Affton, 40-31.

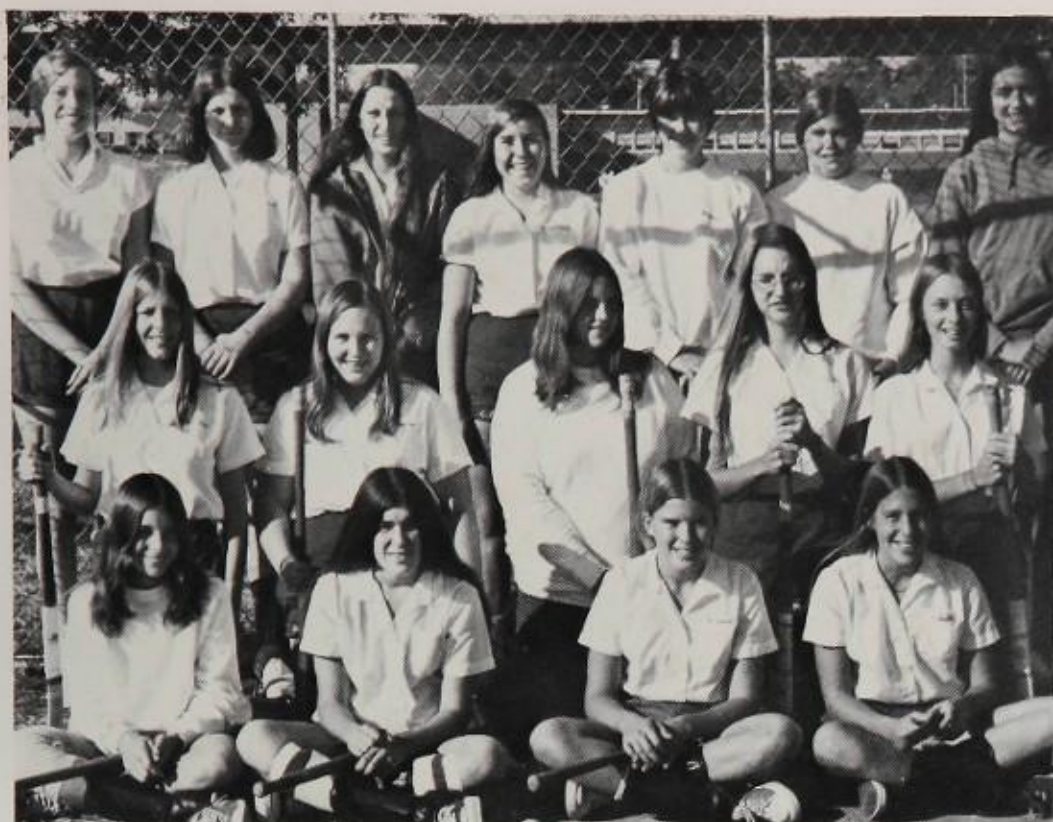

Amazing individual and team improvement made '73 girls' basketball a very satisfying year.

Wet, Muddy Fields Hinder Girls' Hockey

Playing on home ground against all their opponents, the girls' class hockey teams competed with Brentwood, Affton, and University City. The girls worked after school most of the fall to improve their skills in the game.

Both the Senior and Junior class teams logged a 1-1-1 record, while their sophomore counterparts ended all three of their games in scoreless ties. The seniors' winning effort was a 3-1 score over Affton, while the Juniors won 2-1 over Brentwood.

Rain hindered practice sessions after school for the Varsity team. At one time they cancelled three practices.

In competition, the Varsity Team lost close games to both Affton and Brentwood. In a rough defensive game Kirkwood battled University City to a scoreless tie. Even though they did not have a favorable record, the girls showed much improvement over the course of the season.

Intramural Variety Sparks Participation

Offering a variety of sports activities including field hockey, speed-a-way, basketball, tennis, gymnastics, table tennis, volleyball, badminton, softball, and golf; girls' intramurals had an overall participation of about 30% of the female population of KHS.

Open to all girls who wished to participate, the intramurals program met Monday through Thursday after school. The amount of interest received in past years determined the number of days devoted to a specific sport.

Interschool competition provided enthusiastic turn-outs for field hockey, basketball, and volleyball. In each of these sports the coach selected outstanding intramural participants to play on sophomore, junior, and senior class teams. After class teams finished their game schedules, the coach chose those who she thought were superior players. These players formed the Varsity squad.

In order to letter in girls' sports a student must accumulate 100 points—Block K; 200 points—Chevron; 300 points—Old English K; 350 points—Star; 425 points—Old English K with Star, the highest a girl can achieve.

Board Members Initiate Changes

Led by Mr. Bruce Woodruff, president of the Kirkwood R-7 Board of Education, the six three year members made decisions concerning the school district's policy, budget, tax rates, contracts, and authorized bills to be paid. It also hires the superintendent of schools and all other personnel. Officers, elected annually, receive no compensation for their services.

The Board initiated two basic changes. First, the board revised the basis of all school policies and projects: the school philosophy. Second, it collected ideas for the master plan for the future following a demographic survey. The survey analyzed population trends and predicted a decrease of an average six percent per year in enrollment, leveling off in the early 1980's. The District administrators learned how to update the figures of the survey themselves.

The Board also checked progress on the developmental language learning program in the elementary schools and the pilot program in the junior high schools which served students with learning disabilities. State funds supported these programs. A similar plan for the high school was proposed.

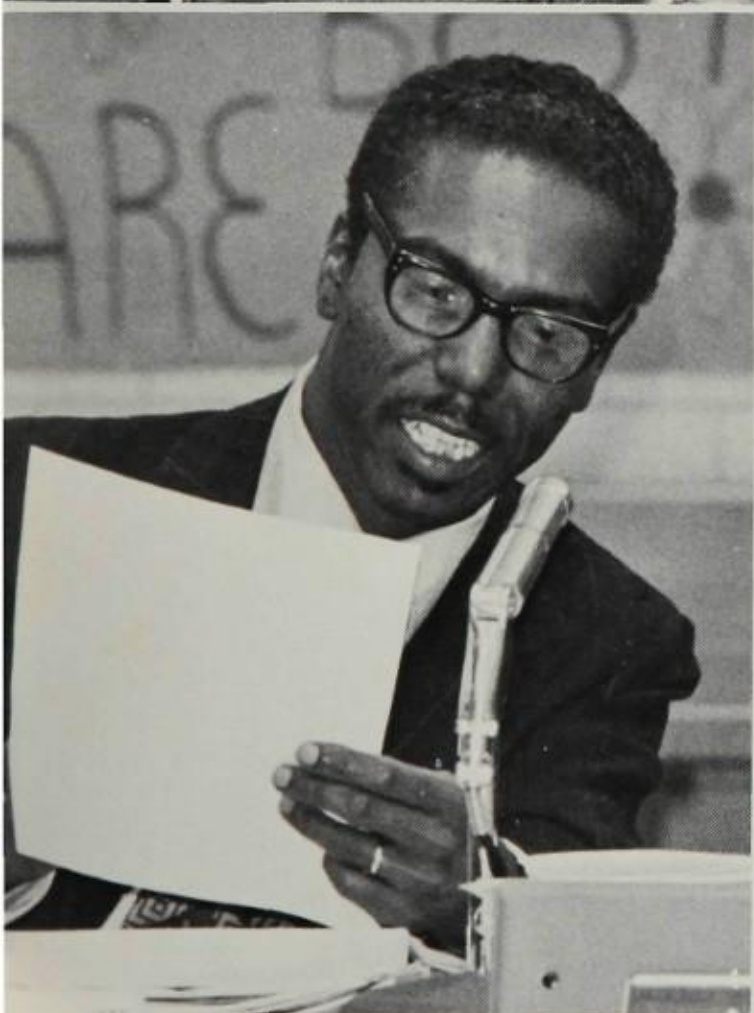

Through necessity, the Board approved alterations of school buildings such as the new covered walkway at Kirkwood High School. In view of the best interests of the students, the members of the Board initiated these plans and others for the future.

Principal Reviews

Changes, Improvements

As principal of Kirkwood High, Mr. Donald Duchek acted as the chief policy maker in this school. His efforts to create an atmosphere of learning resulted in many new and exciting changes in the school. Such innovative projects as the English phase elective program, the Red Badge program, and other improvements occurred during his administration.

In lieu of his involvement in the changes encompassing KHS, PIONEER thought it appropriate to obtain Mr. Duchek's opinions on our changing school. Following is an interview conducted in mid-October:

PIONEER: When students came back to school this fall, they noticed several changes taking place. Would you expand upon these changes?

MR. DUCHEK: Yes, we have under construction the resource center which is the most important project at this time. The home economics and art rooms, projects begun last year, have been completed. Also in the fine arts building an assistant principal's office was added and Mr. Waltz makes his headquarters there.

The school board granted approval to erect concrete bleachers and a press box on Lyons' Field. This construction, as well as the resource center, delayed by the iron-workers' strike, finally resumed. Workmen renovated the boys' gym floor also.

As you can see, we have many projects underway at the school this year.

PIONEER: Why were these changes effected?

MR. DUCHEK: The majority of these changes will benefit both the students and the community.

The expansion of the home economics and art facilities was needed because of the increased enrollment in these subjects. The learning resource center is being built specifically for students as an additional opportunity for learning. The assistant principal's office at the south end of the campus will hopefully lead to more efficient management of the school as a whole. I think it's obvious that we don't have enough bleachers to suit our needs. With this in mind, construction on the concrete bleachers and press box is underway.

PIONEER: What non-physical changes have occurred?

MR. DUCHEK: There are two basic areas of change other than the physical changes we've discussed. One has to do with the curriculum; the other is concerned with student-teacher attitudes.

A good example of changes in the curriculum is the English Department phase elective system. The idea of four quarterly English courses was originally investigated by the faculty. After a brief trial period, the students' evaluation was that it is worthwhile and profitable. And, of course, we have gone all the way into this program as a result.

In respect to attitude changes, I feel that students are becoming more and more involved in activities surrounding the campus. I think we have to become aware of this increased interest in school-orientated activities and open up more channels of communication between students, faculty, and administration. A good example of this is the Superintendent's General Council. This advisory group now consists not only of the professional staff, but also student representatives of KHS.

We are listening to students. I think they have a lot to say about what's going on, probably more than they realize.

PIONEER: You were talking about attitude changes. Would you say that there's been a major change in student attitudes since you've been here?

MR. DUCHEK: Yes, I'd have to say that. There is definitely more individual thinking than in the past. In former years, a few student leaders took the initiative, and most of the other students rallied around these few. Now we have many individuals expressing their personal views, which, of course, tend to vary. If there's one disadvantage of this situation that I can see it's the lack of wholeness in purpose. Instead of one or two views, there are many, different directions to go.

PIONEER: How has the educational process changed?

MR. DUCHEK: I think that a major improvement in this field is that more individual attention is given to the student. Another help is that we have seen the emergence of multitexted programs which are so much more beneficial to the student. I think, too, that we have more teacher involvement. Maybe the key here is that the teacher's role is changing from a conveyor of knowledge to a resource person.

PIONEER: What do you think still needs to be changed? What would you change if you could?

MR. DUCHEK: I would like to see a greater sense of purpose in students. I'd like to see them apply themselves and get as much as they possibly can from the school. Students should remember that, though fun may be rather hard to come by, you can learn a great deal here and have fun doing it.

Principals Regulate Student Diversification

Under the direction of Mr. Donald Duchek, the four assistant principals regulated the pulse of the school. In the field of academics, Mr. Robert Purcell decided what happened and when. He devised and revised the master schedule many times as he worked with the counselors who in turn counseled the students. Because of the change to English phase electives, his job increased in difficulty. For that reason he regretfully gave up the position of athletic director.

The other three principals annually rotate their jobs among one another.

Mr. Herbert Smith, administrator for the seniors, specifically took charge of the Senior Carnival, the Red Badge program, Senior Lounge, student pictures, COE, CALL, and PIONEER. In addition to these tasks, he worked with the Neighborhood Youth Corps, a government sponsored job co-operative.

Mr. Thomas Waltz, responsible for the junior class also sponsored Student Council. He expressed the view that student attitudes had improved this year. Along with Student Council went the responsibilities for student elections, and committee projects.

Mr. Paul Boltz, who had been in charge of the seniors previously, began anew as sponsor of the sophomores. Master attendance records and student schedules filled his time in addition to his responsibility for Boys' and Girls' State.

Every activity in the school this year concerned one or all of the principals.

Innovations Update Guidance Department

Many changes took place in the guidance department this year as counselors kept up with new developments in the growth and learning process.

One such change involved a new program in which counselors worked with small groups of teachers on behavior modification. A part-time school psychologist, an addition to the department, worked in the relatively new area of learning disabilities. Counselors also tried to keep parents involved and informed about guidance department activities. The guidance department offered a new program, Parent Effectiveness Training, on a volunteer basis, with parent participation and counselor assistance.

A further aim of the guidance department concerned balancing the emphasis on college education with information on vocational training. A new counselor assistant set up career programs on this basis.

English Adopts Four Quarter Electives

Change marked Kirkwood High School's English Department this year as new study programs replaced previous curricula. Following last year's trial quarter, the department expanded the elective program of theme centered courses into a full four quarter system.

By talking with students and observing other schools' curricula, the English teachers came up with a selection of courses as varied as the student body. Of the wide selection offered, only one course, an introduction to the basic skills of language arts: reading, oral language usage, and writing, is now required of sophomores. In addition, the school district changed the graduation requirements for English to three years.

Preparing for the specialized courses involved much extra time and research for teachers, but the results showed it was well worth the effort. Students are more enthusiastic about doing the required work for a subject which is of interest to them. In turn, the English department can offer more courses of interest to students. Teachers do not only teach courses they designed, but many others. This resulted in a freer exchange of ideas and teaching methods and much cooperative effort among the English faculty.

"If At First You Don't Succeed. . ."

Struggling to solve seemingly impossible problems, math students attempted to grasp the meaning of mathematical theories. The theme of a math class seems to be "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

Courses offered in this department included plane and solid geometry, algebra, and advanced algebra, as well as higher forms of mathematics such as trigonometry, analytic geometry, and calculus. A computer math class was added to the department.

Math courses aimed at encouraging students to think more clearly and logically and to apply logic to their everyday lives.

Science Students Seek To Understand World

Students in biology, chemistry, and physics examined the natural world during the year. Biologists explored the nature of life. "You mean to tell us that we have to dissect a frog? I don't want to do that!" These cries escaped from the biology labs as students stumbled to grab their dissecting pans.

Physicists struggled to discover the relationships between math and matter by working with light, energy, and motion in this course.

Occasionally minor explosions from the chemistry rooms blasted the quiet of the science building. Chemistry buffs learned the hard way that "those chemicals just don't seem to mix."

Teachers strove to help the students understand the basic principles of science and appreciate the order which reigns in their world.

Social Studies Relate To Complex World

History courses presented students with a greater awareness of their environment, both past and present. World and American history courses worked to achieve the main goal of helping the students to assume their rights and responsibilities in society.

Students chose from a variety of courses including Contemporary Issues, sociology, psychology, American government, geography, and Black history. Because of the large number of people desiring to take psychology and sociology, these courses consisted mainly of seniors.

Lectures, backed by texts, provided students a chance to learn about the world in which they live. Social studies courses helped relate the individual to society and gave him a better understanding of individual and group behavior.

Arts Exhibit Students' Creative Expressions

Students freely expressed their creativity in the new art facility while harmony reigned with the marching band on the football field, and with vocal and instrumental music in the auditorium.

In addition to the many minor concerts, the orchestra, band, and choral groups each had two concerts a year. Led by Mr. John Owen, A Cappella gained statewide recognition from their journey to Jefferson City and Mr. Burton Isaac's band gained local recognition at the football games. These achievements were possible only because of the many hours of practice.

Art I through IV and Handicrafts, because of their growth, added a new teacher, Mrs. June Lanz, to the staff of Mrs. Florence Mains, Mrs. Marilyn Gaa, and Mr. Charles Galvin. Creativity keyed their theme this year.

Mr. Isaac indicated that, together, the music and art teachers strove to inspire the students and to instill a lasting appreciation for fine art.

Foreign Languages Build Communications

Foreign language instructors undertook the job of teaching students a second language.

Strong backgrounds in English grammar proved beneficial to French, German, Spanish, and Latin students as they searched for a more meaningful understanding of their chosen language.

Knowledge gained of foreign customs and cultures, as well as the spoken language, taught students the importance of communication with foreign countries.

Learning vocabulary, grammar, and pronunciation introduced the beginning student to the fundamentals of the foreign language. Second and third year students studied literary works in the given language, thus broadening their vocabularies. Fourth year students applied the skills learned earlier by conversing in their new language as well as studying literary works.

Future Employees Learn Trade Tricks

Future secretaries, career girls, and business men and women gained valuable experience in Business Education classes.

These students learned to type and take notes in shorthand and did it faster than they had believed possible. They acquired greater confidence in dealing with the business world by working on area projects, qualifying themselves for bronze, silver, and gold Merit Awards as rewards for various qualities of class work.

They became aware of themselves, in relation to the business world around them and assured a place for themselves.

Mastering Skills Gains Self-Awareness

Students discovered veritable gold mines in themselves as they unleashed talent and creativity in Practical and Industrial Arts courses this year. Whether it involved working with foods or with metals, or sewing garments or making architectural drawings, students mastered skills that enabled them to turn ideas into realities. Some learned how to manage a home while others learned how to maintain a home. Whatever he learned, every student developed greater self-reliance.

Driver's Ed Classes Learn Driving Skills

Teaching students to drive may be the most nerve-racking job at school. The instructors related some hair-raising experiences such as meeting a wrong way driver on the highway, seeing a truck tumbling end over end down the median, or getting stalled on the railroad tracks with a train coming. Yet, no student has ever received a traffic ticket while driving during class.

The quarter-long course aimed at giving students a practical experience and knowledge of driving. It included twenty hours of lecture and five hours of driving. Sleepy-eyed students stumbled in for 7:15 a.m. lectures three mornings a week. Students may receive a reduction on insurance rates for completing the course.

Students Exposed To Various Sports

Girls participated in a variety of activities during the year such as field hockey, basketball, gymnastics, and volleyball. A typical gym class began with the girls standing on their respective numbers. They were dressed in the required white blouse, socks, tennis shoes, and red shorts. After the girls called out their numbers, the activity began.

During the hockey season girls picked up shin guards and hockey sticks and dragged themselves out onto the field. After the game they raced back into the gym to shower and dress quickly.

Boys' classes generated physical and mental growth through participation in various activities and games.

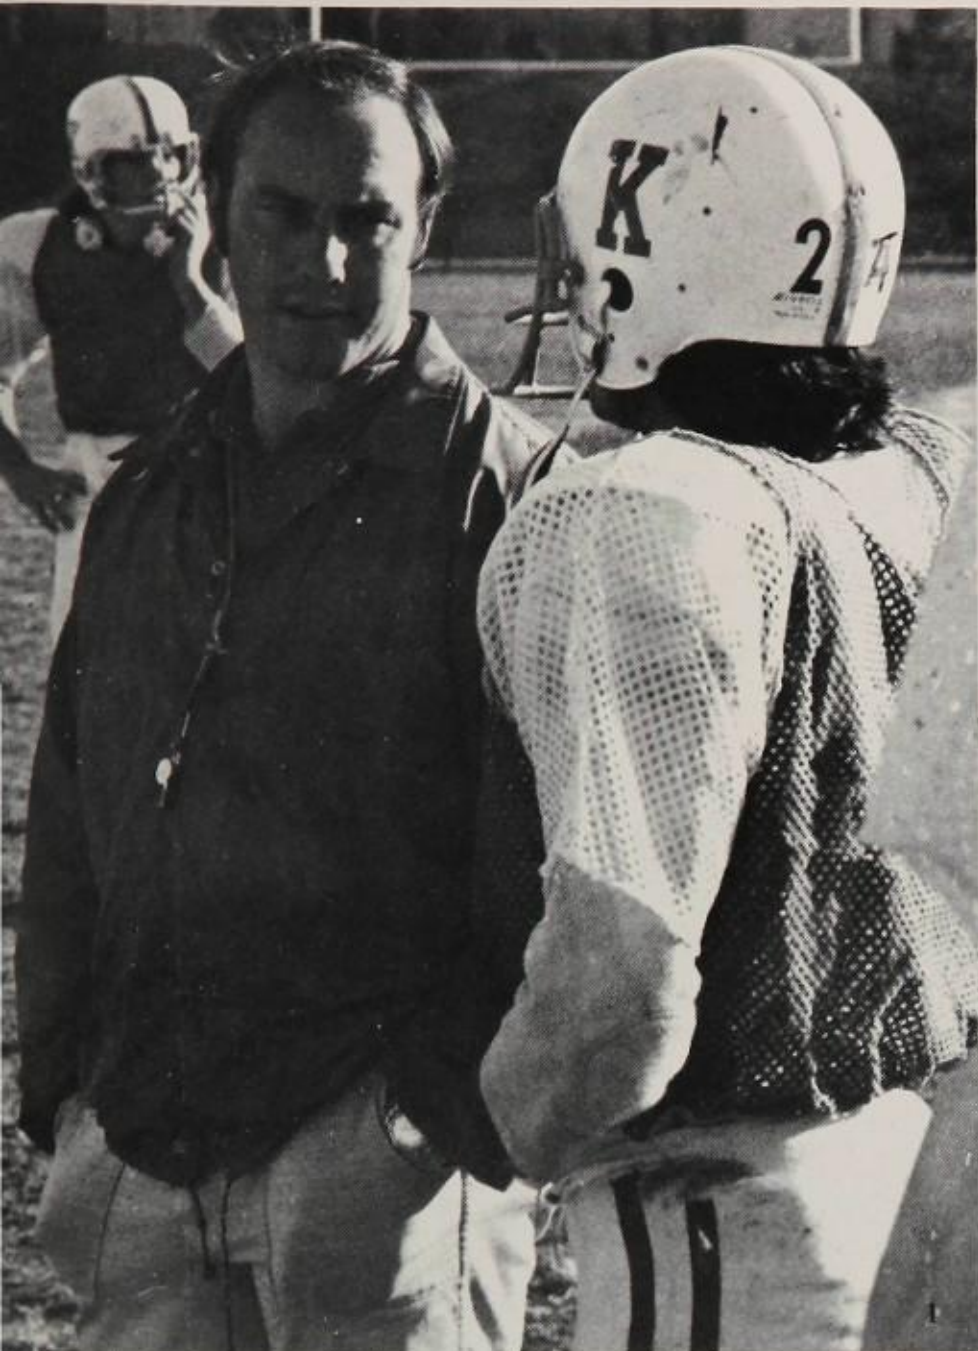

Sophomore, Junior, and Senior boys learned the importance of teamwork. Daily classes participated in such sports as football, basketball, softball, gymnastics, wrestling, volleyball, soccer, weightlifting, badminton, and golf on an elective basis.

P.E. teachers hope to provide students with a variety of activities, not only to keep them in good physical condition but also to help develop team spirit and good sportsmanship. Students are required to take four years of high school gym to graduate.

Secretaries' Efforts Serve Administration

Without the secretaries the school could not have functioned efficiently. Their quiet, yet effective diligence often went unobserved. All ten secretaries played a part in the complexities of educational records.

According to Mr. Duchek's secretary Mrs. Helen Ballard, the secretaries were the means of communication between the school and the public. By performing secretarial duties, they helped organize the library, guidance department, summer school, student schedules, and maintained student records, obtained substitutes, operated the switchboard, and recorded attendance.

A change in effect this year, a new system of recording attendance, became the job of the new secretary, Mrs. Roberta Carnahan. As before, each class had a secretary specifically responsible for that class in order to satisfy the needs of the student and the school.

Construction Work Requires Relocation

Due to the construction of the new Learning Resource Center which will occupy part of the old library, the administration relocated the library in the north end of the cafeteria. The change began at the end of the school year last June.

In its temporary location, the library, of necessity had less space, a definite handicap. In spite of inconveniences, librarians, and students alike continued to maintain and use a smoothly running library.

Also headquartered in the library, Mrs. Jean Zich coordinated audio-visual supplies. In addition to distributing movie projectors, screens, record players, overhead projectors, and other such equipment, she also saw that everything stayed in good working condition. Every other day, many new films arrived from the county audio-visual center and old ones returned. It is an important job that affects every student.

As nurse, Mrs. Kathalia Prescott also had a very important and busy job. Aside from setting jammed fingers and bandaging injuries, the nurse's office also served as an educational counseling service for health problems such as obesity, drugs, venereal diseases, pregnancy, and alcoholism. This year she had the assistance of a nurse's aide to help with first aid.

Excepting the nurse, the other services relocated until the completion of the Learning Resource Center.

Efficient Workers Display Their Skills

Due to the high cost of food and labor, lunch prices necessarily increased. Overcrowded lunch lines served as evidence that students and teachers adjusted to the price increases and continued to buy school lunches.

Dedicated cooks worked diligently under the direction of Fern Camden made an effort to greet each student not only with a nutritious lunch, but with a smile.

Able-bodied custodians in perpetual motion kept the school in tip-top shape. Stretching to screw in light bulbs or straining muscles to operate huge boilers, variety spiced the custodial crew's job. By looking at the school grounds and buildings, it was evident that our crew of custodians can handle its job.

Without the constant effort put forth by these people, our school could not function properly.

Sophomore Classmen Plan For Years Ahead

Annually, seniors graduate and new sophomores enroll at Kirkwood High. The 1972-73 sophomores, as in other years, had new ideas and changes for the school without realizing some changes had already recently taken place. The problems lay in the development of ideas.

The sophomores comprised a quantitative majority in the school and made their presence known from the beginning by starting the year off with a competitive race for the class offices. Later the officers took a survey, questioning the sophomores about what changes and projects they wished to initiate as a class, and then they began work toward future goals.

Sophomore boys in the field of athletics represented their school in intra-school B-team sports as did girls who made sophomore class teams in intramurals.

Mr. Paul Boltz, sponsor of the sophomore class, expressed the view that the sophomore officers had many valuable ideas, but getting the cooperation of the students was a difficult undertaking.

Juniors Plan Projects To Finance Activities

Juniors looked back at their completed sophomore year with satisfaction as they moved forward enthusiastically to a new year.

Money-making projects included the annual magazine sales and the selling of Kirkwood T-shirts. Selling "Kirkwood" auto stickers provided a new project. Juniors also put their creative minds to work on a Turkey Day Float. The senior party, something many juniors look forward to, exhausts funds saved from all the projects.

Under Mr. Thomas Waltz's supervision, Bob Lepine, junior class president, attempted to coordinate efforts to make the best of the year.

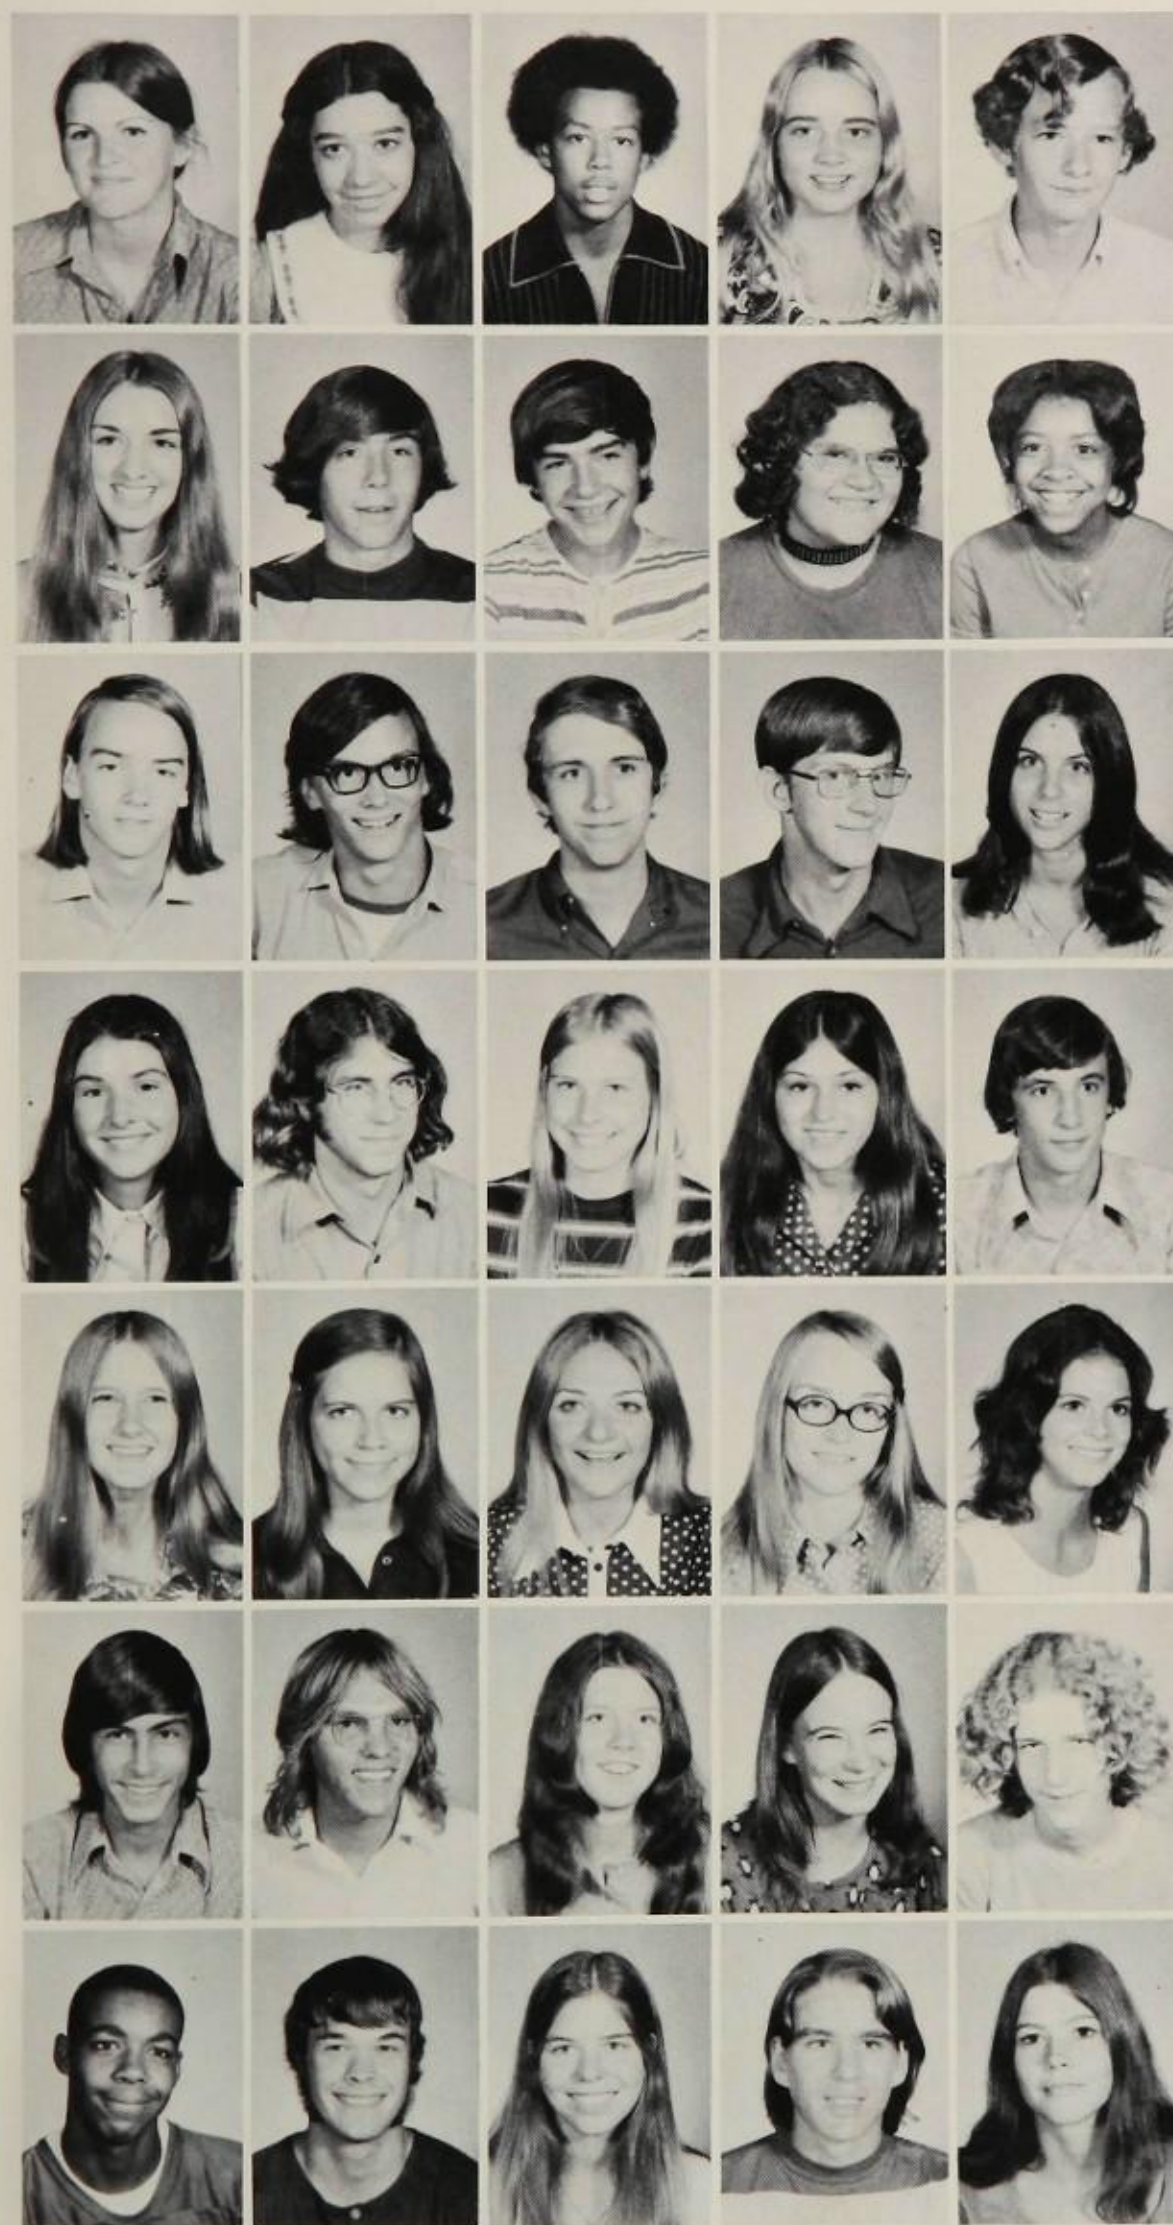

The junior year provided many students with a chance to relax; they had stumbled through the problems of the sophomore year, but had yet to feel the pressures with which seniors are confronted.

Friendship Dance Revives The Fifties

Reviving an exuberant atmosphere of the fifties, Kirkwood Pioneers and Webster Statesmen met on Kirkwood's territory for the annual Friendship Dance with this year's theme of a 1950's "Greaseball."

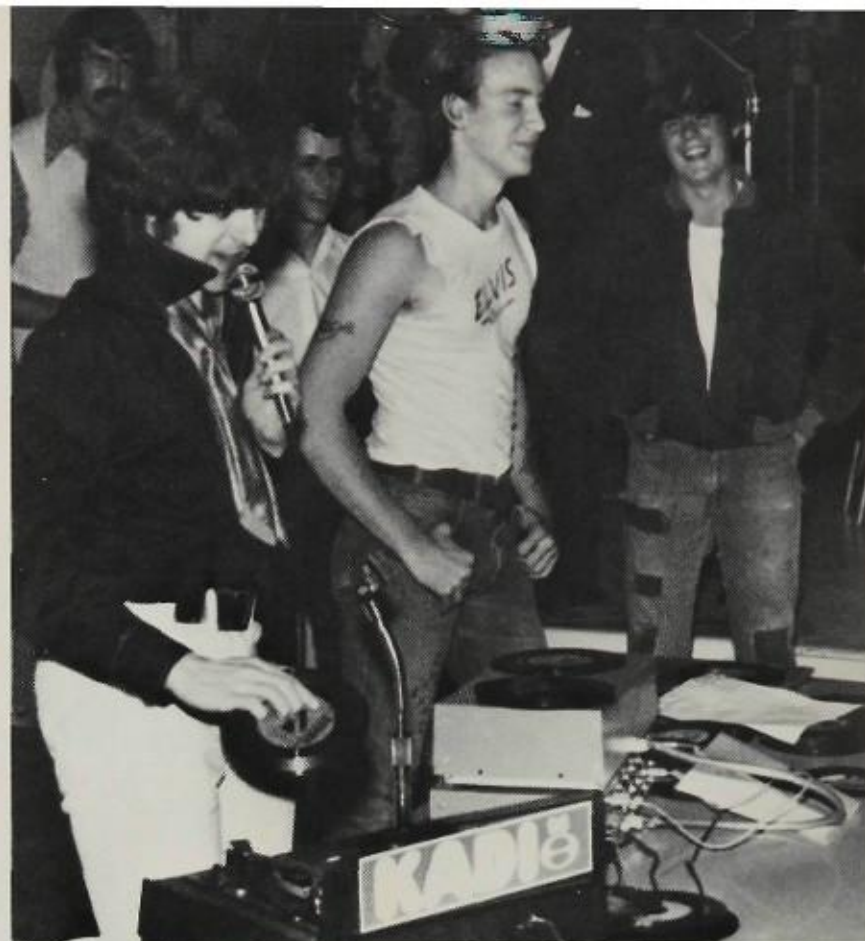

Ponytails swung to music furnished by the band "Bobbie Socks and The Blue Jeans" as they brought back the hit tunes of the fifties. Peter Skye of KADI radio Oldies Show played a collection of old rock and roll records providing students with an opportunity to "jitterbug" and "rock around the clock."

Various members of Hi-Y's and Tri-Hi-Y's, under the supervision of Mrs. Andree Walgren and Mr. Ron Gaus, advisors of the YMCA youth council, organized the event.

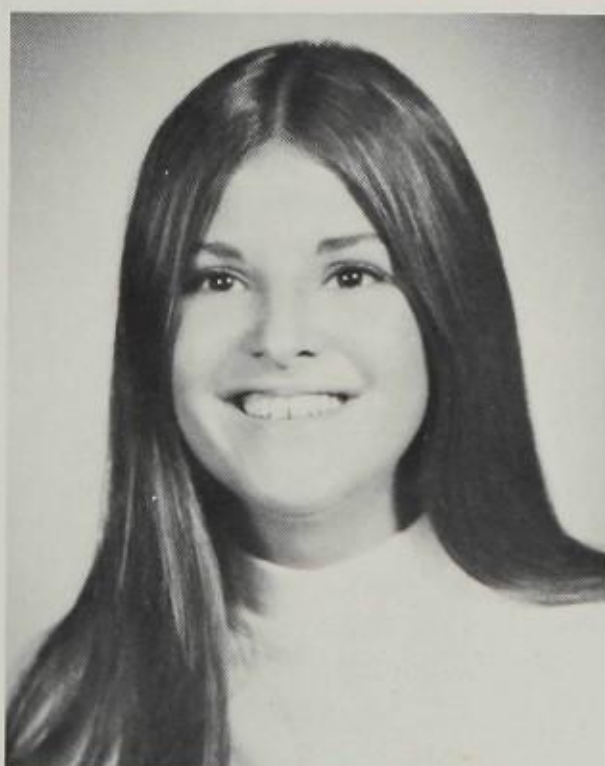

Excitement climaxed as Kirkwood's Football Queen, Leslie Kizer accepted the crown from last year's reigning queen, Carol Schleifforth. Leslie, a leader of Girls' Pep Club, a Student Council representative, and chairman of the football committee, participated in a great many school activities.

Kirkwood swallowed its pride as it painfully accepted defeat along with the jug as Webster once again obtained the bell for the fifth consecutive victory over the Pioneers in the Turkey Day Game.

Christmas Formal Climaxes Holidays

Asking a boy to the Christmas Formal Dance provided an ideal opportunity for many girls. Although some suffered slight embarrassment at the role reversal, when the eve of the dance finally arrived, all the preparations seemed worthwhile.

An artistic backdrop portraying a partridge in a pear tree, an elaborately decorated Christmas tree, and a goose and her golden eggs set the scene for the dance to the theme of "Twelve Days of Christmas." "Faustus" provided the music for the dance. The highlight of the evening came when Kim Duffy, 1971 Pioneer Queen, relinquished the crown to the new Pioneer Queen, Becky Voss.

The seven Christmas Formal maids all represented an organization at KHS. Interested clubs at KHS nominated senior girls who belonged to their club. The student body voted on these girls. The one receiving the most votes became queen, and the six receiving the next highest votes became maids.

Becky worked on the CALL as Feature Page editor for two years, acted as sergeant-at-arms of Girls' Pep Club in her junior year and as president in her senior year. Senior girls who have been active in the club they represent, and very active and respected at school, are eligible to become a Pioneer Maid.

"Spring Fling" Toasts 1973 Hatchet Man

In an election held on Valentine's Day February 14, seniors selected Tyler McKinley as the 1973 Hatchet Man. K-Klub annually sponsors the event which honors "the senior boy who has done the most for Kirkwood High School."

All of the seven Hatchet Man candidates received the traditional hatchet illustrating the individual's contribution to Kirkwood High School.

Final announcement of the new Hatchet Man occurred at the "Spring Fling", a semi-formal dance held in late March. "Faustus", the band that helped make the earlier Christmas Formal a success, provided the entertainment. Flowers, kites, and similar objects suggestive of spring, lazy days, and warm weather enhanced the girls' gym.

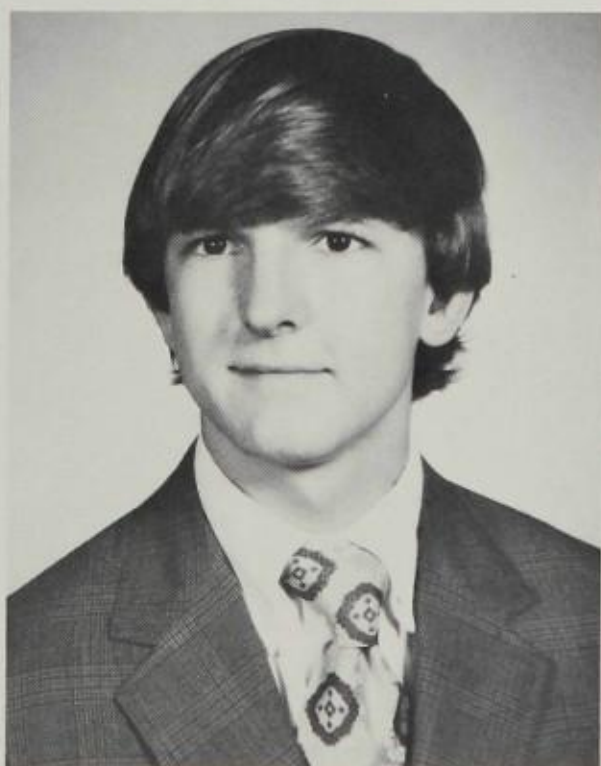

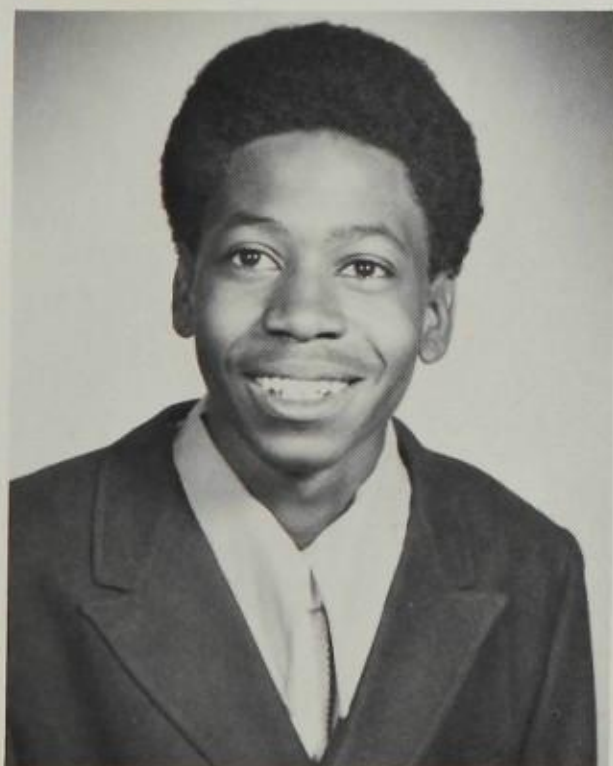

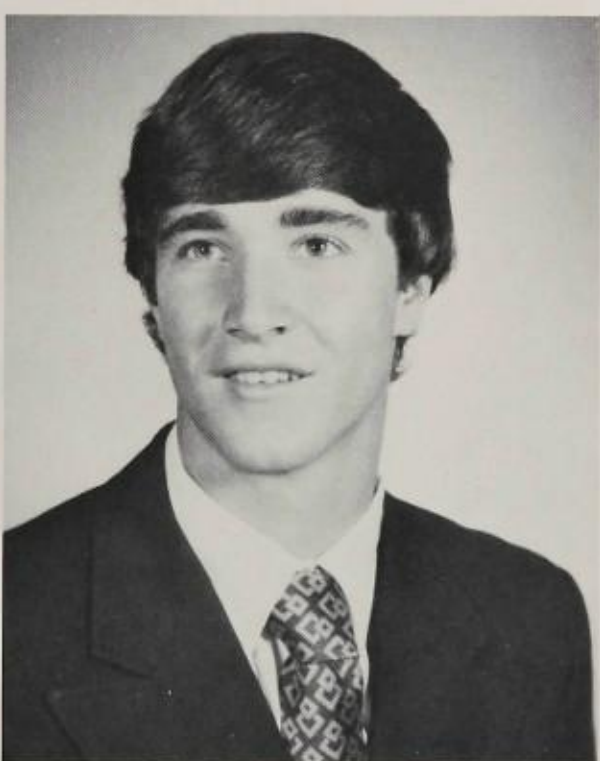

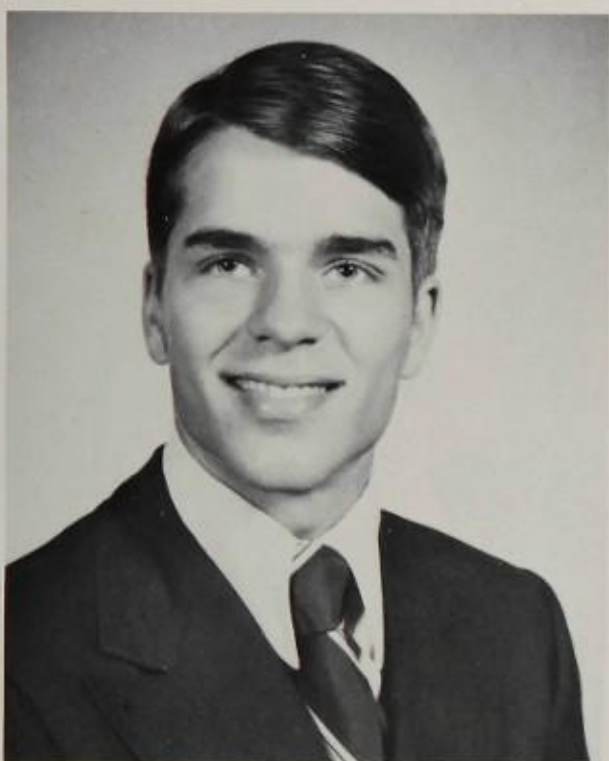

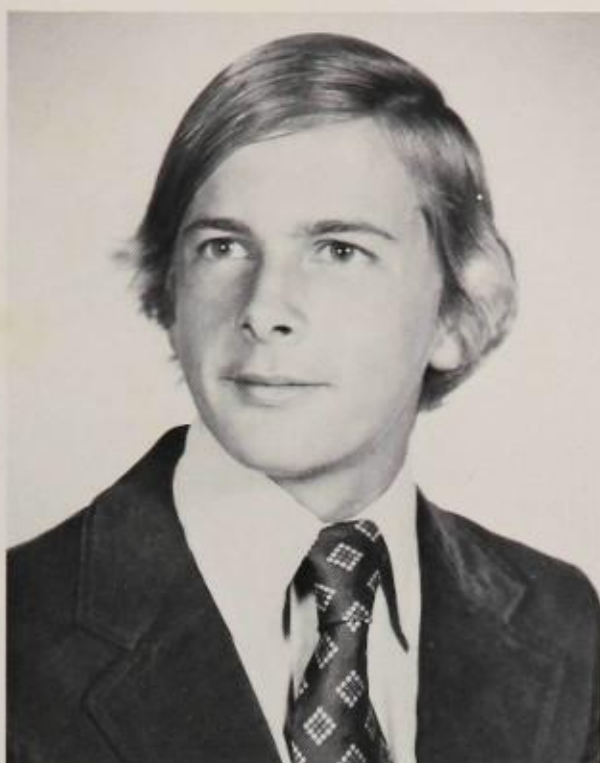

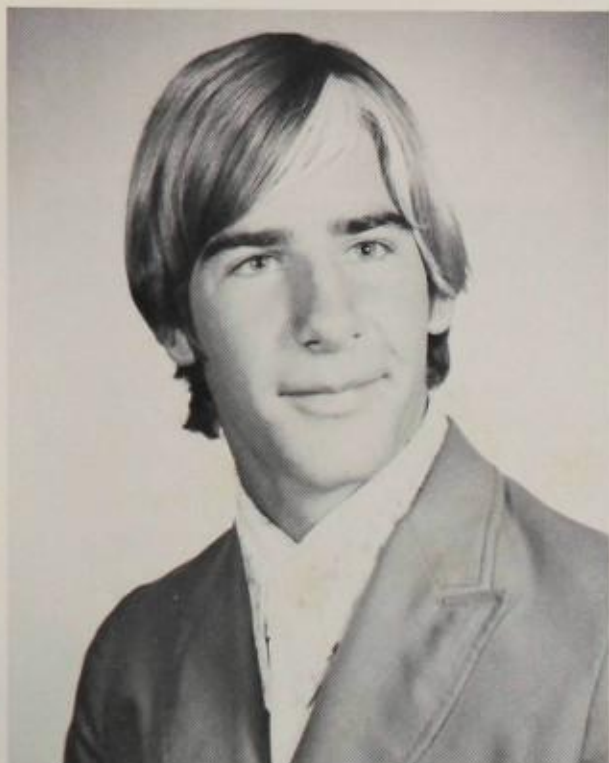

KHS's new Hatchet Man, Tyler McKinley, contributed to school life in a number of ways. Marching and Concert Band, Bicycle Club, Student Council, and Spanish Club involved many after-school hours. In athletics, Tyler participated in B and Varsity Football, B and Varsity Track, and B Basketball. A Varsity Club and BPC member, Tyler belted out "Down to the River" at basketball games.

Coronation Prom Bids Farewell To Seniors

Bidding all seniors a final farewell, juniors and seniors danced amidst a sparkling atmosphere of the St. Louis World's Fair at the annual Coronation Prom. The evening climaxed with the crowning of the 1973 May Queen.

Six maids selected by the senior class honored their queen as the girl who did the most for the senior class.

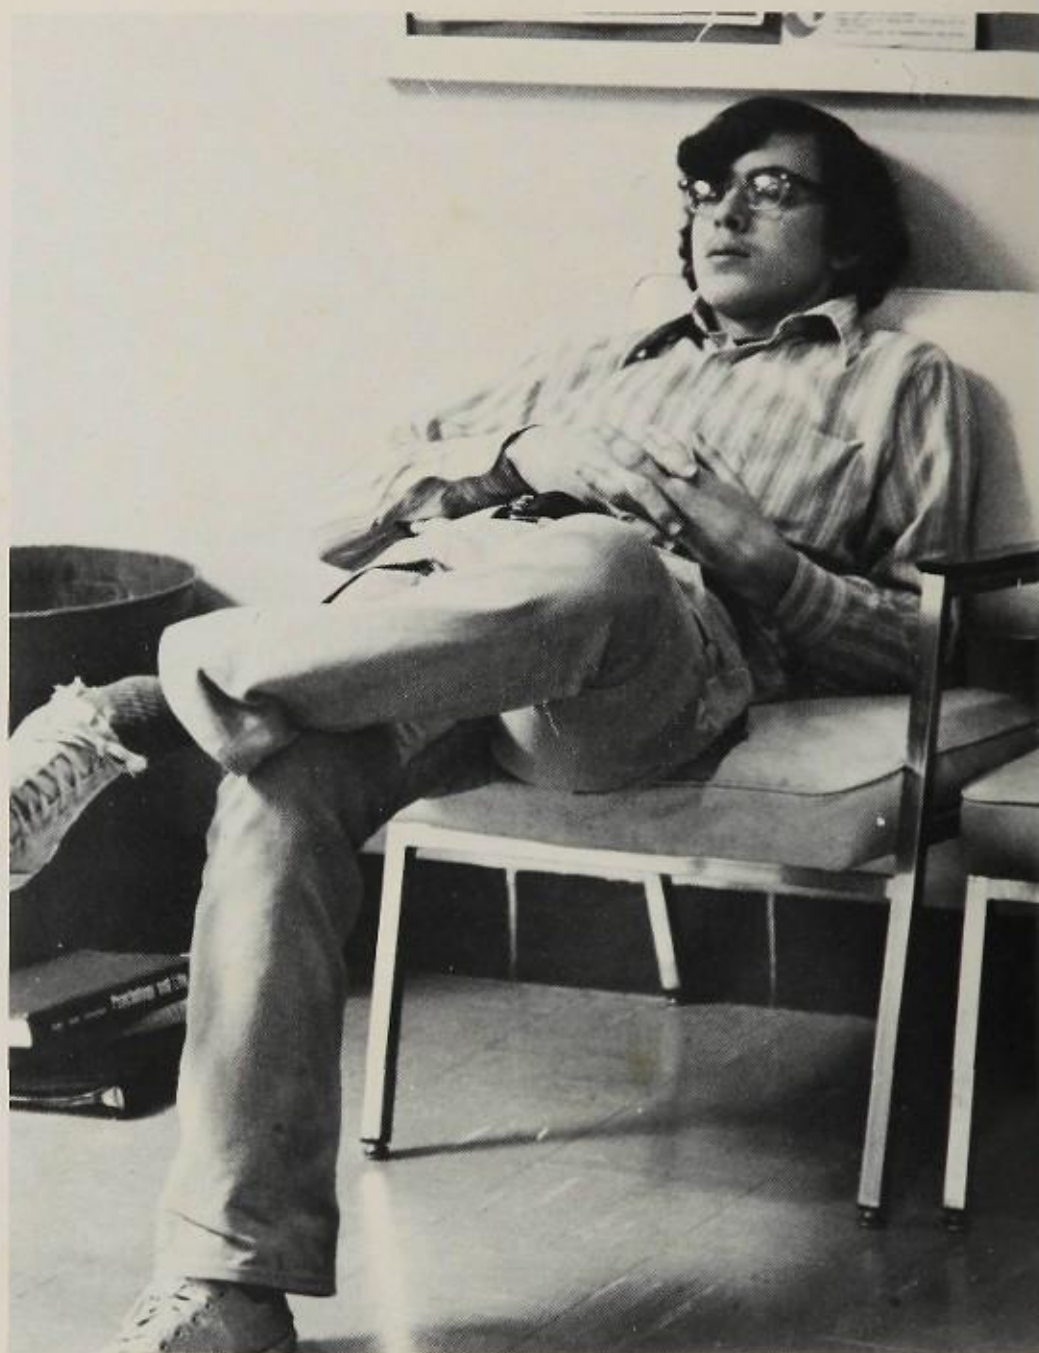

The 1973 May Queen, Kathy Moore, a transferee from St. Mary's Academy in Buffalo, New York in her sophomore year, found little difficulty making new friends and "getting involved" at KHS. An active member of Girls' Pep Club, Spanish Club, and Student Council, Kathy helped initiate many new ideas and activities. She also held the office of Circulation Manager for the CALL.

Youth Group Brings Song, Dance To KHS

"Up With People" exemplifies an exuberant group of young people performing to make others happy. "Up With People" groups tour the world, attempting to achieve their goal: spreading excitement in just being alive. The organization includes three groups of young people aged seventeen through twenty-five. They participate in the group for ten months, then relinquish their places to someone else awaiting the experience.

The group's day at KHS turned out to be a memorable event for many Kirkwoodians. Their three performances roused curiosity and interest in students and administrators. Touring our school for the latter half of the day, group members answered questions raised by KHS students. The day ended as the bus pulled out of the parking lot, taking the group to rehearse for a performance at Schneithorsts later that evening.

Work Pays Off For Merit Award Winners

Diligence paid off for the students who earned semi-finalist rankings and Letters of Commendation on the PSAT/NMSQT (Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test).

In October of their junior year these students, along with many others from KHS, took the test. Earning among the top scores in the nation insured the semi-finalist ranking for ten KHS students.

Becoming a finalist meant scoring as well on the SAT test as they had in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying test. Students received scholarships on the basis of financial need. Students scoring just below the semi-finalists received Letters of Commendation.

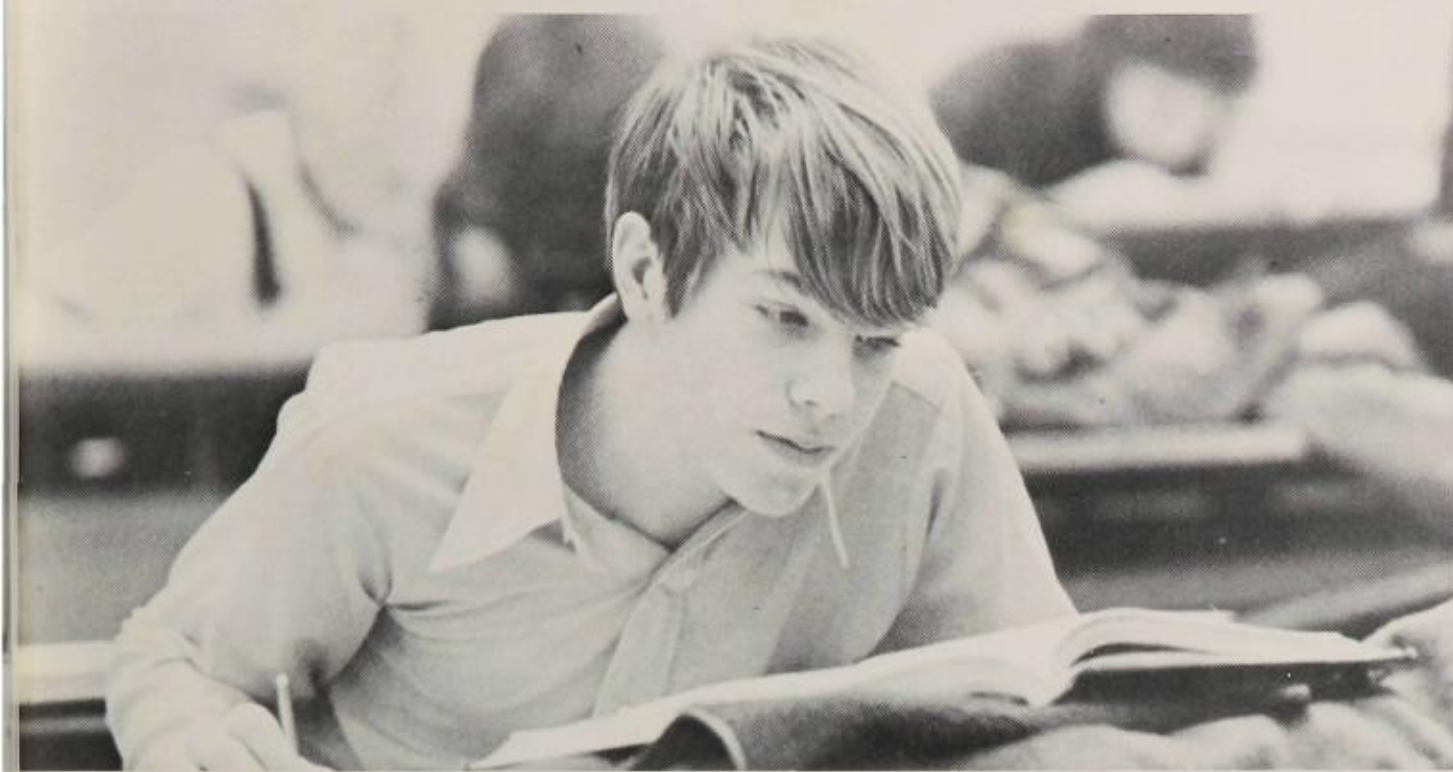

Colleges regard these awards very highly. They aid these students in gaining acceptance to the colleges of their choice. Independent Scholarship programs often award financial assistance on the basis of National Merit Scholarship Test scores.

Students Take Honors In Competitive Events

In September senior Sue Stice presented KHS with a $230 camera for the PIONEER Staff. Several members of the staff had attended a yearbook workshop held in Ferguson for some 650 Missouri and Illinois junior and senior high school students by the Sponsors of School Publications Association. Sue competed in a yearbook cover designing contest according to a specified theme. Of two prizes given for the senior high cover design, Sue proudly returned with first place. She received the camera as the high award of the yearbook conference.

Sue Pipes the KHS Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow took a 50-minute written examination in December and won this honor, having the highest eligible entry. The individual high school winners then competed for the state award. Only state winners are eligible for the national title and scholarship.

Two Musical Students Display Their Skills

Concert Orchestra once again honored Kathy Wofford as it selected her as Concert Mistress. As the first and finest violinist, the Concert Mistress attains her status by way of tryouts held early in the year.

Among her many duties, the Concert Mistress, second to the conductor in theory, tunes the orchestra, fingers music, and helps keep members in line. Kathy proved worthy of the title as this year marked the third consecutive year she served as Concert Mistress.

Junior Dan Freeman received national recognition in a national organ contest sponsored by Yamaha organ dealers. Dan rose from a winner in local competition to third place in national competition in Chicago. The third place award included $300 and a plaque, but, to only a three year veteran, national recognition meant much more.

Quill & Scroll Honors Journalism Students

Encouraging and rewarding individual student achievement in high school publications is the purpose of the International Honorary Society, Quill and Scroll. The University of Iowa School of Journalism founded the Quill and Scroll Society in 1926.

Although service to his publication above and beyond the call of duty makes one eligible, a prospective member must be a junior or senior in the upper third of his class. With membership each student received an official pin or key and a year's subscription to the Quill and Scroll Society magazine.

Founded on February 12, 1948, Pica, the KHS local chapter of Quill and Scroll, had twenty-five members from CALL and PIONEER during the school year of 1972-73. Mrs. Charlotte Bell Conley was the sponsor.

Successful Senior Year Marked By Graduation

June seventh, 6:15 p.m., came too soon for some and yet not soon enough for others. This date marked the graduation of the senior class of '73.

Commencement exercises, held on the football field in fair weather, lasted nearly two hours. Three student speakers reflected on the years spent at KHS and commented on the realm of the future. Two other students gave the invocation and benediction. Elected by the popular vote of the senior class, these speakers competed in a try-out held earlier in the year.

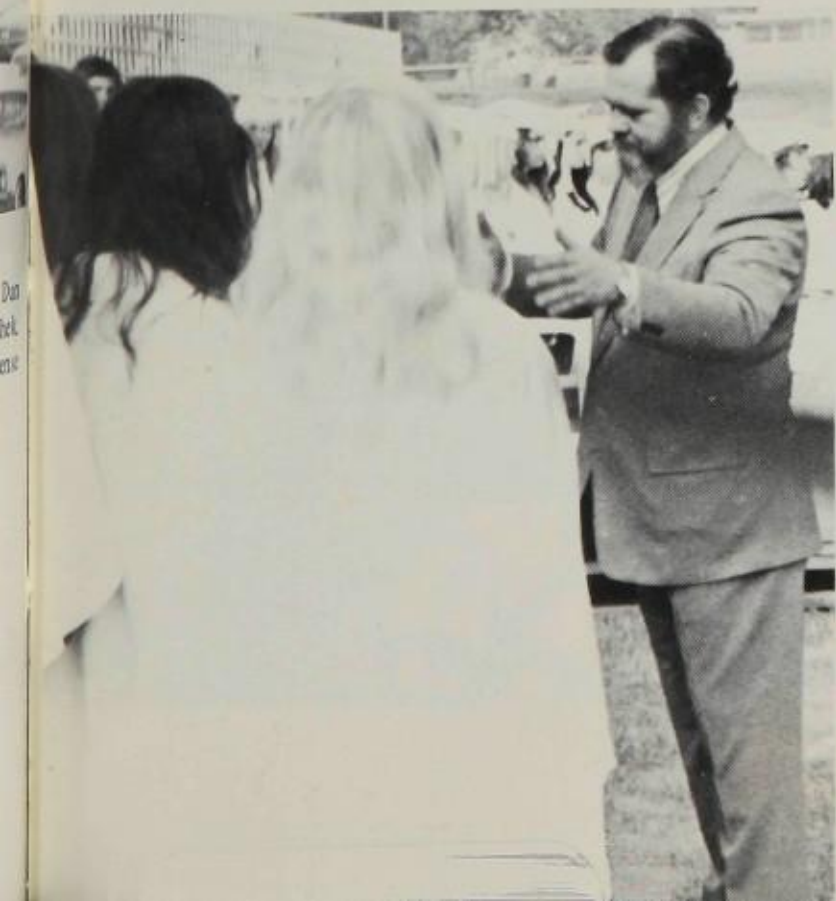

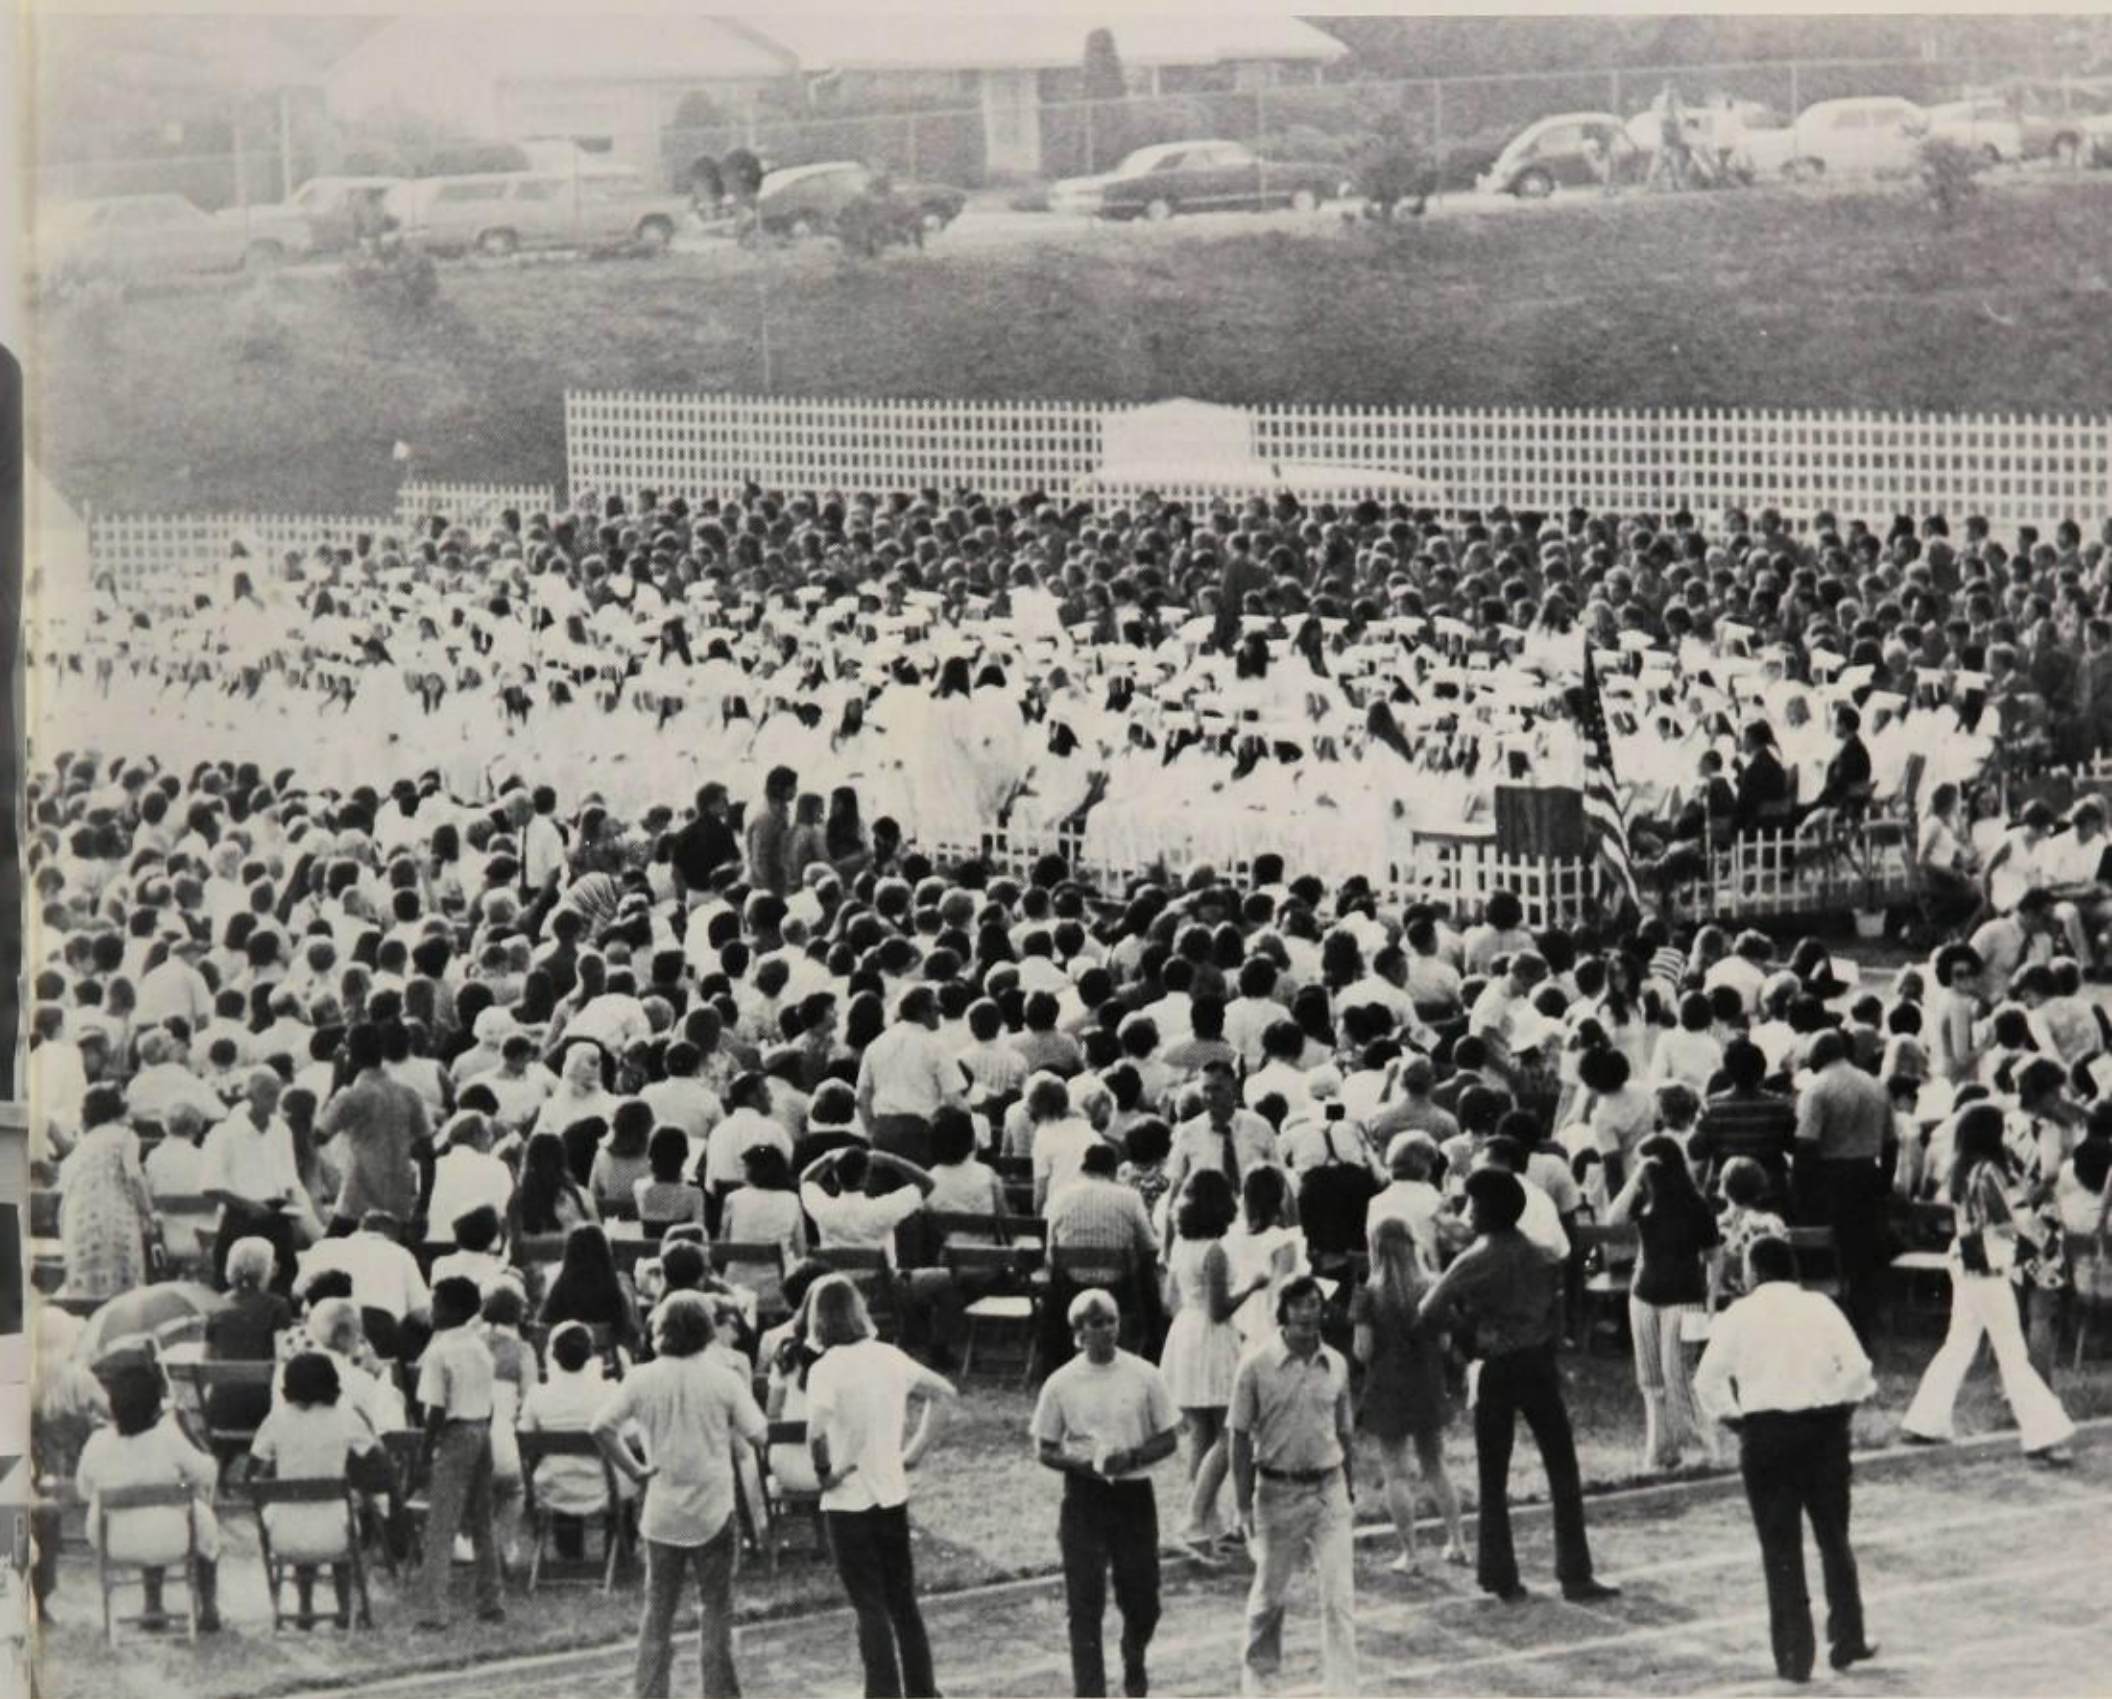

Principal of KHS, Donald Duchek, and the newly elected President of the Board of Education, presented the senior class and assisted with the ceremonies. A Cappella gave a farewell performance for the seniors and the KHS Band provided accompaniment to the procession.

Climaxing the evening, the Senior Party, held at a local restaurant, celebrated years of work and accomplishment at Kirkwood High School. However, for many, the long awaited graduation and grand finale did not affect them as did the fact that their care-free high school years had come to an end.

Seniors Undergo Trials: Prepare For Tomorrow

Having waded through eleven years of schooling, nearly 800 twelfth graders began the final step of their high school education. Prestigiously referred to as seniors, they looked forward to that June evening on which they would receive the ultimate goal: a diploma. But the interim spent in school appears to have been used wisely.

The class distinguished itself from others in various fields. Academic achievements included ten National Merit finalists, 22 National Merit Commended Students, 83 students recognized by the Missouri College Relations Board, and 8 winners of the Curator's Award. In the field of athletics, seniors led each team. Displaying its school spirit, the class of '73 continued the tradition begun in its sophomore and junior years: winning first place in the annual Turkey Day Parade float contest.

Senior class meetings brought together the ideas and energies of interested students whenever needed, usually during the last half of sixth hour.

Tyler McKinley organized the Senior Carnival, a traditional money-maker. An annual spring affair, this year's carnival exhibited the many talents of some 150 senior volunteers. Manning booths, the seniors displayed their salesmanship, sportsmanship and the many other qualities developed and matured during these years at KHS.

Graduation marked the end of many long but often enjoyable hours spent at KHS. Student participation, the goal of commencement exercises, included comments by student speakers, a short performance by the A Cappella choir, and musical accompaniment by the band.

Comradeship motivated the varied activities of the senior class. In the words of senior class president, Quentin Wilson, "We prepare for tomorrow, ready to expand our horizons in whatever field we choose."

Though It Be Madness Method Is In It!

Students, books, athletics, buildings: These things make up but a small part of the spectrum of Kirkwood High School. As an institution devoted to learning, KHS exists as an atmosphere, a reputation, a collection of ideas and philosophies designed to enrich students spiritually as well as mentally. Twenty-two hundred ideas and philosophies interacted and ultimately changed themselves and others in striving for the common goal of a diploma.

KHS, as part of a larger, more complex society, finds perfection only in theory. Racial tension again stimulated much concern among students as it caused an interruption of the normal life style of the school. Apathy took its toll as students ignored student council and similar attempts to alleviate problems. The bureaucracy and seeming unresponsiveness of the administration in such areas as racial conflict and discipline alienated students as well as some teachers.

Although similar trouble spots occurred in past years, unique attempts at solutions characterized this year. When racial tensions boiled and threatened to overflow, some students took the initiative, organizing group discussions, all-school assemblies, and additional plans aimed at cooling the situation. Without immortalizing the students involved, their actions revealed a new approach to an old problem. In this instance, student apathy gave way to student activity, which, by avoiding bureaucratic tangles of red tape, attempted to deal directly and effectively with a smoldering problem. The zeal, imagination, and courage exhibited by these actions should motivate both those leaving KHS and those who will return in the fall to seek answers where none is apparent and to challenge where there is no action.

With all its inadequacies, Kirkwood High School remained a very effective secondary institution. Innovative programs such as the electives in English and physical education and intense study programs in American History reflected the growing amount of responsibility placed on the student. The reappearance of KHS dominance in athletics, together with a renewed interest in the indefinable idea lightly termed "school spirit" marked another hopeful event.

No editorial in a school yearbook would be complete without the over used cliches, "School is what you make it" and "You only get as much out of it as you put into it." Though trite, these truisms contain much wisdom. Superfluous lectures on this subject say nothing; let everyone individually examine himself and his contribution.

For nearly seven hundred and twenty seniors, KHS soon becomes a part of the past. As they accept their diplomas on the evening of June 7, three years of study at Kirkwood High come to a close. Their graduation marks not an end, but a beginning. As sure as sophomores will come in the fall to fill the void left by the Class of '73, new challenges, new horizons will confront the freshly graduated men and women. If successful, their years at KHS will have provided them with the talent, the perseverance, the courage to attain—and even to surpass—these challenges and horizons.

All this boils down essentially to one thing: CHANGE. As a school, Kirkwood High constantly changes physically as well as academically. Those who attend KHS, both students and teachers, mature intellectually, spiritually, and physically through their involvement in the many activities of the school. Graduating seniors face an abrupt and important change as they move on to college and the various endeavors before them.

Looking both at the knowledge gained and the changes already initiated, as stated earlier in this book, we CAN change the world.

The Editor

Positive, Non-Passive Thoughts On Change

Did students change since they first came to Kirkwood High? Did they influence a change in someone else? Kirkwood High School offered the opportunities to change and be changed if a student accepted the challenge.

Students learned from other people and others learned from them, both as an individual and in a group. Each teacher or friend could influence change in the attitude or viewpoints of any student with whom he came in contact. Experiences in and out of class helped form every student's life at school.

Classroom situations encouraged a change. Individual teachers and their methods of teaching influenced the amount of interest and knowledge a student gained. For example, using simulations in history gave students various viewpoints of a situation instead of only what the text said. Working with others, with varied opinions and ideas contributed to the attitudes a person formed.

Classrooms provided only part of a High School education. Involvement in any activity outside of class gave a student an opportunity to learn more about other people and himself. One discovers knowledge found not only in text books, but also in personal experiences. Students on the publications staffs, in Little Theater, and in Media exemplified this idea. Work outside of class could influence a student's decision for the future.

Participation in a sport also changed some students, depending on the individual. Working with a team required a great deal of cooperation and self discipline. Learning to work together played an important role in shaping the lives of many people.

Not all students at KHS received influence in the same way. Each one experienced a different degree of change while in school. However, Kirkwood High, its student body, and faculty have the ability to effect a change.

Seniors graduating in 1973 experienced many changes in the school, the curriculum, and themselves. Construction of the new Resource Center and the phase elective system in the English Department affected everyone this year. Seniors have also seen extended smoking privileges and attempts at open campus.

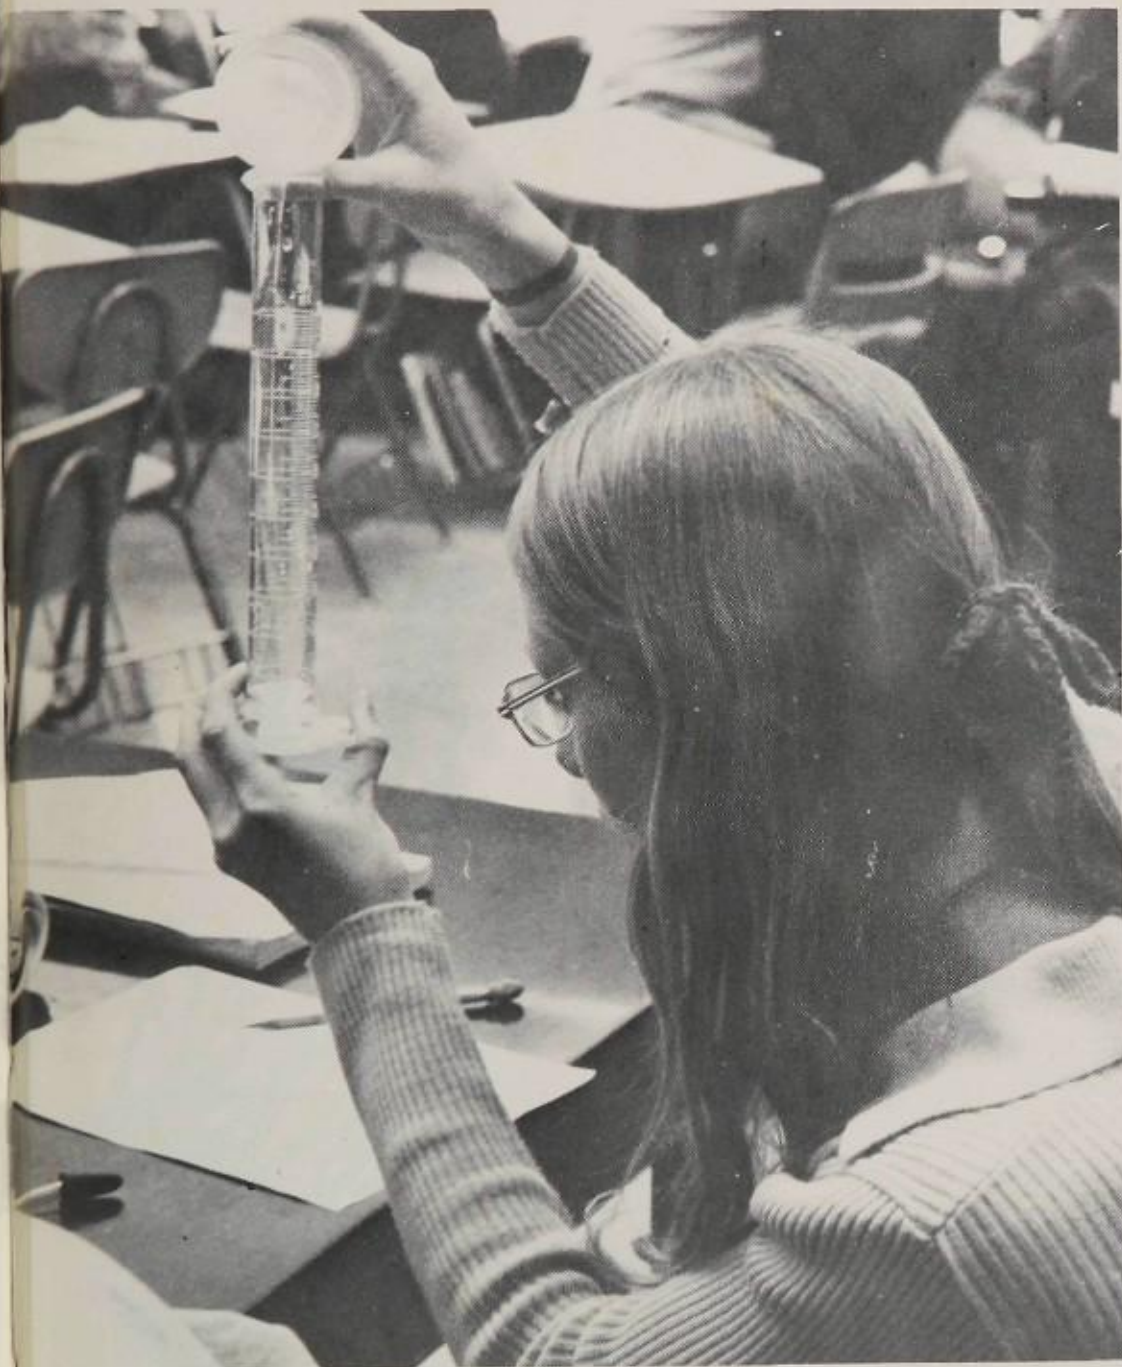

The PIONEER yearbook attempted to illustrate all the various changes, both physical and spiritual.

Acknowledgements

In recognition of the extra efforts put forth and the long hours contributed to make this yearbook possible, the 1973 PIONEER staff would like to thank the many people to whom we are deeply indebted.

Our first salute is extended to Mrs. Charlotte Bell Conley who served as our consultant and advisor. Next we would like to thank Mrs. Fern O'Neal for solving our many problems with her expert assistance.

Sincere gratitude goes to Mr. Don Frischer of Interstate Book Manufacturers, Inc. who aided us in many puzzling predicaments. Also we would like to thank the entire crew at Vincent Price Studios, especially Miss Sophie Parashak, for handling all of our picture problems.

Our list wouldn't be complete without mentioning Mr. Donald Duchek, principal; Mr. Herbert Smith, assistant principal; and the faculty, office staff, and administration who fulfilled our many unique requests. Also we acknowledge Mrs. Joan Fraser for her willing and ready assistance whenever asked.

We extend our appreciation to Mr. Ben Toothman for the use of his photography equipment and his excellent photographic essays of maids and queens.

Finally, we remember our parents for their understanding and compassion concerning our responsibilities and the many late nights spent working on the PIONEER.

Marty -

I'll never forget Columbia and drinking 3 whole glasses of wine with you guys.
I'll never forget you guys taking off and leaving John and I to get "acquainted".
I could have shot every one of you.

Listen - you're got to be one of the greatest pitchers Bertwood has seen in a long time and don't let anyone tell you different - all right?

Will have to go cruisin' again sometime - Please come by and see me -
Laurie

Take care over summer and remember Columbia, that was a riot too.
Hope to run into you some time.

Marty,

You are such a riot!

I swear I could listen to you and that vocabulary of yours for hours. You and the guys in Mech. and Arch. Drawing livened up the class and gave me something to look forward to.
